Knoxville College.

Organization — KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained chiefly by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elects the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the "McKee School" in Nashville, so-called from its first principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1875. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered:

Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 50,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprise of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $125,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes,

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for ninety persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for two hundred and fifty. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Industrial Building.—The chemical laboratory, armory, room for mechanical drawing, electrical department with dynamo which is run by the students and supplies light for all the buildings, the carpentering department, printing department and blacksmith and wheelwrighting departments are located in this building.

Homes.—The President's residence and three cottages occupied by professors and families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building which contains Assembly room, Laboratory, Dairy, Office, Library and Reading Room, with store rooms in basement. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valued testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, hot water heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students from abroad are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

President's Residence.

Agricultural Building—Gift of Citizens of Knoxville.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Parents and guardians are requested not to send clothes or pocket money to students, unless informed by the person in charge that these things are needed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they will be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs, and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow-cases will be sold at cost of material and making.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and two cotton waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used and cost about $1.40 each.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boys' Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men will be required to wear the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cap, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.30.

Girls' Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for large girls.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Friday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

Reading Room and Library.—The different dormitories are all provided with reading rooms which are supplied with the most important books of reference and some periodicals. The main Library and reading room is in the college building and contains about two thousand volumes and the standard magazines with many newspapers. Through the generosity of friends who prefer not to have their names mentioned, $100 was given this year to add books and periodicals to the library.

Publications.—The AURORA, a semi-monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the care of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular religious services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A Young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., a young Ladies' Missionary Society and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

The Fourth Normals and Freshmen study the Psalms, Proverbs, Isaiah and Epistles. The Sophomores and Juniors Classical study Greek Testament. The Seniors study Church History.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school has for its object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of all students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents and guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the ground on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept in a book for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. By means of the brick yard and Agricultural Department young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes towards his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a free scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for free boarding and tuition for one year.

The Mrs. Thomas Jamison Scholarship provides the same privilege for a student in Knoxville College who has graduated from one of the schools under the control of the United Presbyterian Church.

The Y. P. C. U. of Harrisville congregation, Butler Presbytery, also provides a scholarship to be used in the same way.

The scholarship in memory of Mrs. Clarissa McFarland is used in like manner.

These scholarships accomplish great good in providing for the first year's schooling at the college of those who are most promising in the preparatory schools. After having had one year in college the student will be able to earn a large part of his expenses if not all of them. Thus the best young men and women are put in the way of a thorough education.

Students' Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the drives or fences of the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Gifts.—Rev. N. H. Brown, D. D., of Monmouth, Ill., during the past year gave $2,000 for the purchase of a farm near enough that it could be used in connection with the college farm for the care of the dairy and for fruit raising. The new farm lies in the Beaver Ridge Valley, about seven miles distant, and is a valuable addition to the college property. It consists of ninety acres.

The late Rev. J. A. Bailey, D. D., of New Castle, Pa., bequeathed his library with its cases, valued at $1,000, to the college. This is a valuable addition to our library.

Friends who prefer not to have their names used, gave $100 for the purchase of periodicals and books for the library.

The Y. P. C. U. of the First Church, Jersey City, gave $20 to be used for the Student Fund in providing work by which students could help themselves in school.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hunter, Jamestown, Pa., generously gave $3,000 to pay note held against the Payne farm which was purchased two years ago.

Prizes.—The Prescott Declamation and Oration Prize, given by Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, consisting of $15, is awarded as follows: The girls' sections choose each two contestants, one for Essay and one for Declamation. In like manner the boys' societies choose two contestants for Oration and Debate.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

The Spears English Prize, consisting of $15 and given by Miss Clara S. Spears, is awarded to members of the First Normal Class excelling in class work and theme composition.

Lectures.—A regular lecture course is maintained in connection with the literary societies. Many eminent speakers are thus heard from the college platform. In addition to this, helpful talks are made in connection with the chapel service by persons engaged for that purpose.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Any one knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and postoffice address to the President of the college.

Need of an Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

College and Normal Departments.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President: Moral Philosophy.

J. B. Work, D. D., Psychology.

Herman Spencer, A. M., German and English.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Latin.

J. Arthur Brown, B. S., Agriculture, Chemistry and Botany.

J. Owen Rankin, A. B., Mathematics and Physics.

J. R. Millin, History, Missionary Training, English.

Lillie B. Proudfit, Music.

Fred L. Beymer, Mechanical Drawing.

Matilda Wishart, Mathematics.

Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.

Grace R. Braham, Domestic Science.

In the College Department there are the two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.). These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Requirements for admission to the College Department include the equivalent of the Normal Course except Pedagogy and experience in Teaching.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President: Moral Philosophy, Homiletics.

J. B. Work, D. D., Dean: Systematic Theology, New Testament Language and Literature, and Church History.

J. R. Millin, A. B., Old Testament Language and Literature.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew and Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis of Genesis and Psalms. Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcomed to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Industrial Department.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instructions used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $6,250 has been given for the year 1904-5.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

Scholarships.—Candidates for scholarships must be bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee, at least sixteen years of age, and must pass a satisfactory examination upon branches in the common school course of the state. Students who have been in attendance in Knoxville College will be eligible for appointment after reaching our First Normal Year. Candidates for scholarships not already students will take an examination before their county superintendent in May or June of each year on the day he appoints, or the examination may be taken before the faculty of Knoxville College at the opening of the fall term in September. Upon passing the examination their names will then be submitted to their representatives and senators or the president of the University for appointment. Students thus admitted are assigned work, if they desire it, in some branch of the Industrial Department, and receive pay for their work.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical work, Brick-making, Baking, Blacksmithing and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The college owns a farm of 63 acres a few miles away, making in all 138 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the students training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, are given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silos, creamery with separator and other apparatus afford opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged green house affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of a competent instructor and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A large cylinder press, run by steam, does the heavier work, such as catalogues and newspapers, while a job press turns out programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903. Two well arranged rooms in the mechanical building give ample opportunity for the teaching of the trade, under the direction of a foreman who completed his course at Hampton Institute.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year. About 1,000,000 brick were made last summer.

Brick Laying.—During the summer vacation work is done in brick laying where students are taught the brick mason's trade. All the building on the college grounds is done by student labor under the direction of a foreman.

Dressmaking.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate departments. The smaller boys also of the Training School sew. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used by a few who are most familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Training School affords opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, Miss Lou George, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department.

Col. H. E. Goetz, an officer in the Spanish American war, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.30. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department.

Miss Lillie Blanche Proudfit, Director.—The department of music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns six pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE.—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best Composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the works of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In voice building the Italian method is used. Good breath control and correct placing of the tone are insisted upon. Vocalises by Sieber, Concone, Marchesi and Lamperti are used.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention. In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch, scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Lichner, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46; Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Kuhlau and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16. Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas, Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Meisters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

TUITION.—Harmony, per term	$1 00
Piano, per term	4 00
Organ, per term	4 00
Singing, per term	4 00
History, per term	50
Rent of piano, per term, one hour each day..	1 00

Tuition payable in advance. No money refunded except in case of illness.

Necessary Expenses.

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students.—First Grade to Sixth Grade, Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term..$1.50.
Seventh and Eight Grades, Tuition and incidental fee, paid on entering, each term 2.00
Normal and College Classes, incidental fee $1.50, Tuition $1.00. Total, paid on entering, each term 2.50
State scholarship students have free tuition which makes their expenses one dollar a term less.

Expenses of Boarders.—The School year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.

Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term	1.50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid a term in advance	19.50

Total for term if paid in advance$21.00

If not paid a term in advance expenses are as follows:

Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term	$ 1.50
Boarding, fuel, light, furnished room, at first of each month	6.85

In order to help parents to understand clearly just how their account stands and estimate how much money will be necessary to meet the expenses month by month or term by term, we give the following detailed statement:

Tuition for lessons on piano and for voice culture is extra.
See page 27.

Four weeks constitute a school month.

Students in Chemistry are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Students remaining during the holiday week pay board at the regular rate.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Good economy will enable a student to remain the entire school year on $75 to $80 unless he should need additional clothing or medical attention.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $30 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial, or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

School warrants are accepted for payment of boarding until they can be cashed.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

Knoxville College.

Organization—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained chiefly by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elects the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1875. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered:

Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 50,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprise of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $125,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes,

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for ninety persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for two hundred and fifty. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Industrial Building.—The chemical laboratory, armory, room for mechanical drawing, electrical department with dynamo which is run by the students and supplies light for all the buildings, the carpentering department, printing department and blacksmith and wheelwrighting departments are located in this building.

Homes.—The President's residence and four cottages occupied by professors and families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building which contains Assembly room, Laboratory, Dairy, Office, Library and Reading Room, with store rooms in basement. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valued testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Normal Training, as well as insures the best and most skillful attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, hot water heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Elnathan Hall—For Young Women.

Boarding.— A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students from abroad are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible other wise.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Parents and guardians are requested not to send clothes or pocket money to students, unless informed by the person in charge that these things are needed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they will be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs, and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow-cases will be sold at cost of material and making.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and two cotton waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used and cost about $1.40 each.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boys' Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men will be required to wear the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cap, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.30.

Girls' Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for large girls.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Friday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

Reading Room and Library.—The different dormitories are all provided with reading rooms which are supplied with the most important books of reference and some periodicals. The main Library and reading room is in the college building and contains about two thousand volumes and the standard magazines with many newspapers. Through the generosity of friends who prefer not to have their names mentioned, $100 was given this year to add books and periodicals to the library.

Publications.—The AURORA, a semi-monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the care of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular religious services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A Young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., a young Ladies' Missionary Society and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

The Fourth Normals and Freshmen study the Psalms, Proverbs, Isaiah and Epistles. The Sophomores and Juniors Classical study Greek Testament. The Seniors study Church History.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school has for its object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of all students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents and guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the ground on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Tonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the U. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept in a book for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. By means of the brick yard and Agricultural Department young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes towards his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a free scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for free boarding and tuition for one year.

The Mrs. Thomas Jamison Scholarship provides the same privilege for a student in Knoxville College who has graduated from one of the schools under the control of the United Presbyterian Church.

The Y. P. C. U. of Harrisville congregation, Butler Presbytery, also provides a scholarship to be used in the same way.

The scholarship in memory of Mrs. Clarissa McFarland is used in like manner.

These scholarships accomplish great good in providing for the first year's schooling at the college of those who are most promising in the preparatory schools. After having had one year in college the student will be able to earn a large part of his expenses if not all of them. Thus the best young men and women are put in the way of a thorough education.

Students' Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the drives or fences of the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—The Prescott Declamation and Oration Prize, given by Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, consisting of $15, is awarded as follows: The girls' sections choose each two contestants, one for Essay and one for Declamation. In like manner the boys' societies choose two contestants for Oration and Debate.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

Lectures.—A regular lecture course is maintained in connection with the literary societies. Many eminent speakers are thus heard from the college platform. In addition to this, helpful talks are made in connection with the chapel service by persons engaged for that purpose.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Any one knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and postoffice address to the President of the college.

Need of an Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

College and Normal Departments.

Grace R. Braham, Domestic Science.

In the College Department there are the two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.). These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Requirements for admission to the College Department include the equivalent of the Normal Course except Pedagogy and experience in Teaching.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President: Moral Philosophy, Homiletics.

J. B. Work, D. D., Dean: Systematic Theology, New Testament Language and Literature, and Church History. (Resigned on account of ill health.)

H. J. Bell, A. B., Substitute Professor of Theology and Old Testament Language and Literature.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ, N. T. Lang. and Lit.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew and Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis of Genesis and Psalms. Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcomed to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Industrial Department.

Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.

Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

E. D. Waid, B. S. A., Professor of Chemistry and Agriculture.

Rose Marshall, A. B., Professor of Physics and Mathematics.

Fred L. Beymer, Superintendent of Industries and Teacher of Mechanical Drawing.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Miss Anna Weir, Teacher of Sewing.

Grace R. Braham, Teacher of Domestic Science.

C. B. Woodward, Foreman Printing Department.

Harrison Reynolds, Foreman Agricultural Department.

Jacob Scott, Blacksmith and Wheelwrighting.

Harcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instructions used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $6,250 has been given for the year 1904-5.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

Scholarships.—Candidates for scholarships must be bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee, at least sixteen years of age, and must pass a satisfactory examination upon branches in the common school course of the state. Students who have been in attendance in Knoxville College will be eligible for appointment after reaching our First Normal Year. Candidates for scholarships not already students will take an examination before their county superintendent in May or June of each year on the day he appoints, or the examination may be taken before the faculty of Knoxville College at the opening of the fall term in September. Upon passing the examination their names will then be submitted to their representatives and senators or the president of the University for appointment. Students thus admitted are assigned work, if they desire it, in some branch of the Industrial Department, and receive pay for their work.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical work, Brick-making, Baking, Blacksmithing and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the students training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, are given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silos, creamery with separator and other apparatus afford opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged green house affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of a competent instructor and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A large cylinder press, run by steam, does the heavier work, such as catalogues and newspapers, while a job press turns out programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903. Two well arranged rooms in the mechanical building give ample opportunity for the teaching of the trade, under the direction of a foreman who completed his course at Hampton Institute.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year. About 1,000,000 brick were made last summer.

Brick Laying.—During the summer vacation work is done in brick laying where students are taught the brick mason's trade. All the building on the college grounds is done by student labor under the direction of a foreman.

Dressmaking.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate departments. The smaller boys also of the Training School sew. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used by a few who are most familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Training School affords opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, Miss Lou George, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department.

Col. H. E. Goetz, an officer in the Spanish American war, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.30. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department.

Miss Marybelle Renick, Director.—The department of music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns six pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE.—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best Composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the works of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In voice building the Italian method is used. Good breath control and correct placing of the tone are insisted upon. Vocalises by Sieber, Concone, Marchesi and Lamperti are used.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention. In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch, scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Lichner, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46; Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Kuhlau and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16, Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas, Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Meisters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

NECESSARY EXPENSES.

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students.—First Grade to Sixth Grade, Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term...$1.50.
Seventh and Eighth Grades, Tuition and incidental fee, paid on entering, each term 2.00
Normal and College Classes, incidental fee $1.50, Tuition $1.00. Total, paid on entering, each term..... 2.50
State scholarship students have free tuition which makes their expenses one dollar a term less.

Expenses of Boarders.—The School year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.

Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term 1.50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid a term in advance 19.50

Total for term if paid in advance$21.00

If not paid a term in advance expenses are as follows:

Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term$ 1.50
Boarding, fuel, light, furnished room, at first of each month 6.85

In order to help parents to understand clearly just how their account stands and estimate how much money will be necessary to meet the expenses month by month or term by term, we give the following detailed statement:

When Payment is Made a Term in Advance.

Fall Term —Boarding and Incidental Fee	$ 21 00

Tuition for lessons on piano and for voice culture is extra.
Four weeks constitute a school month.

- See page 25.

Students in Chemistry are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Students remaining during the holiday week pay board at the regular rate.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Good economy will enable a student to remain the entire school year on $75 to $80 unless he should need additional clothing or medical attention.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $30 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial, or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies,

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened January 1, 1907. The management was fortunate in securing the services as Superintendent of Miss Eva Renwick, a graduate of the Illinois Training School for Nurses, after which she was a head nurse in the Cook Co., Chicago, Hospital.

The building is erected in memory of Miss Eliza B. Wallace, who devoted her life to work at Knoxville College. It is a most fitting memorial to a life unselfish and full of good works.

The Hospital is a two-story brick, 49x34 feet, steam heated, equipped with elevator, affording six private rooms, two wards, operating room and office, and has all the conveniences of a modern hospital.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

Those who desire to take nurse training and at the same time pursue other studies in the academic course will be permitted to do so. The time it would take for such students to finish the course will depend on the amount of time devoted to each branch. Those who have completed the Normal course of the College or its equivalent will be able to complete the nurse training course in less time than the full three years.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

Knoxville College.

Organization.—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church, for Negro youth, and is sustained in its literary department by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elects the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The Industrial Department of the College is maintained by an appropriation from the University of Tennessee. This department is one of the departments of the University, by which provision is made according to the laws of Tennessee for colored students. Instructors in this department are nominated by the College Board and elected by the University Board.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the "McKee School" in Nashville, so-called from its first principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1875. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 75,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprise of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study room for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Industrial Building.—The chemical laboratory, armory, room for mechanical drawing, electrical department with dynamo which is run by the students and supplies light for all the buildings, the carpentering department, printing department and blacksmith and wheelwrighting departments are located in this building.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building which contains Assembly room, Laboratory, Dairy, Office, Library and Reading Room, with store rooms in basement. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valued testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skillful attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, hot water heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students from abroad are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Parents and guardians are requested not to send clothes or pocket money to students, unless informed by the person in charge that these things are needed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they will be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs, and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow-cases will be sold at cost of material and making.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woollen skirt and two cotton waists. The woollen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woollen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used and cost about $1.40 each.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boys' Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men will be required to wear the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cap, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.30.

Girls' Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for large girls.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Friday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

Reading Room and Library.—The different dormitories are all provided with reading rooms which are supplied with the most important books of reference and some periodicals. The main Library and reading room is in the college building and contains about two thousand volumes and the standard magazines with many newspapers. Through the generosity of friends who prefer not to have their names mentioned, $100 was given this year to add books and periodicals to the library.

Publications.—THE AURORA, a monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the care of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular religious services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A Young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., a young Ladies' Missionary Society and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

The Fourth Normals and Freshmen study the Psalms, Proverbs, Isaiah and Epistles. The Sophomores and Juniors Classical study Greek Testament. The Seniors study Church History.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school has for its object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of all students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents and guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the ground on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept in a book for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. By means of the brick yard and Agricultural Department young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes towards his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years.

Students' Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the drives or fences of the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—The Prescott Declamation and Oration Prize, given by Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, consisting of $15, is awarded as follows: The girls' sections choose each two contestants, one for Essay and one for Declamation. In like manner the boys' societies choose two contestants for Oration and Debate.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Any one knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and postoffice address to the President of the college.

Need of an Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

Graduating Classes, 1908—Seniors, College Department, in front row—others Normal Graduates.

College and Normal Departments.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and German.
Rose Marshall A. B., Mathematics and Physics.
H. J. Bell, B. D., Psychology and Civics.
J. M. Moore, Ph. D., Latin, Ethics.
Annabelle Ferrier, English.
George A. Cleland, Chemistry.
Marybelle Renick, Music.
Matilda Wishart, Mathematics.
Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.
Grace R. Braham, Domestic Science.

In the College Department there are the two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.). These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the Normal course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
 Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Theology, Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.
 James M. Moore, Ph. D., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, Homiletics.
 Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew and Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis of Genesis and Psalms. Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcomed to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.

Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Professor of Agriculture and Chemistry.

George A. Cleland, B. S., Substitute Professor of Agriculture and Chemistry for 1907-8.

Rose Marshall, A. M., Professor of Physics and Mathematics.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Floy Foster, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Grace R. Braham, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Charles B. Woodward, Instructor in Printing.

Thomas S. Cochran, Superintendent of Farm.

George W. Hurd, Teacher of Carpentry.

Harry C. Cansler, Teacher of Blacksmithing.

Hugh L. Cansler, Teacher of Wheelwrighting.

Wm. Thomas Jones, Instructor in Elementary Woodwork.

Harcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instruction used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $7,500 has been given for the year 1907-8.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

Scholarships.—Candidates for scholarships must be bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee, at least sixteen years of age, and must pass a satisfactory examination upon branches in the common school course of the state. Students who have been in attendance in Knoxville College will be eligible for appointment after reaching our First Normal Year. Candidates for scholarships not already students will take an examination before their county superintendent in May or June of each year on the day he appoints, or the examination may be taken before the faculty of Knoxville College at the opening of the fall term in September. Upon passing the examination their names will then be submitted to their representatives and senators or the president of the University for appointment. Students thus admitted are assigned work, if they desire it, in some branch of the Industrial Department, and receive pay for their work.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical work, Brick-making, Baking, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the students training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, are given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silos, creamery with separator and other apparatus afford opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged green house affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of competent instructors and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A large cylinder press, run by steam, does the heavier work, such as catalogues and newspapers, while a job press turns out programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, but was greatly developed during the past year. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year. About 1,000,000 brick were made last summer.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. During the summer of 1906 the hospital and one residence were erected, and during the summer of 1907 three brick residences were erected entirely by student bricklayers.

Dressmaking.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate departments. The smaller boys also of the Training School sew. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used by a few who are most familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 1800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department.

Col. H. Edward Goetz, an officer of the National Guard of Tennessee, and State Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.30. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department.

Miss Marybelle Renick, Director.—The department of music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns six pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE.—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best Composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the works of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In voice building the Italian method is used. Good breath control and correct placing of the tone are insisted upon. Vocalises by Sieber, Coneone, Marchesi and Lamperti are used.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention. In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch, scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Lichner, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46; Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Kuhlau and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16,

Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas, Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Meisters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two store brick 49x34, basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated from the central heating plant and lighted with electricity from the college lighting plant. The building contains an operating room with sky light, enameled walls and all equipments necessary for operations of all kinds; three bath rooms, a male and a female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold: The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville college, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and cities.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater Fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

NECESSARY EXPENSES.

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students.—First Grade to Fifth Grade, Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term...$2.50.
Sixth to Eighth Grades, Tuition and incidental fee, paid on entering, each term 3 00

Normal and College Classes, incidental fee 2.50, Tuition $300. Total, paid on entering, each term 5 50

State scholarship students have free tuition which makes their expenses $3.00 a term less.

Expenses of Boarders.—The School year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.

Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term 2 00

Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid in advance, per month 7.50

If not paid in advance Boarding is 50 cents a month higher, State Scholarship students in the Boarding Department have free incidental fee, hence their expenses are $2 50 a term less

Boarding and incidental fee amount to $25 for a term of 12 weeks and most parents will find it most convenient to remit for a term at a time.

Four Weeks Constitute a School Month.

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 26.

Students in Chemistry are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $30 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial, or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

Knoxville College

Organization.—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained in its literary department by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elects the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The Industrial Department of the College is maintained by an appropriation from the University of Tennessee. This department is one of the departments of the University, by which provision is made according to the laws of Tennessee for colored students. Instructors in this department are nominated by the College Board and elected by the University Board.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1875. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 75,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprise of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study room for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected the past year. The building includes besides ample provision for library and reading rooms sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes all recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the Mechanical trades. The elementary wood work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building which contains Assembly room, Laboratory, Dairy, Office, Library and Reading Room, with store rooms in basement. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valued testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skillful attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery hall.

and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, hot water heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Parents and guardians are requested not to send clothes or pocket money to students, unless informed by the person in charge that these things are needed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they will be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs, and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow-cases will be sold at cost of material and making.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and two cotton waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used and cost about $1.40 each.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boys' Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men will be required to procure the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cap, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.30.

Girls' Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for young women.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Saturday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

Reading Room and Library.—The different dormitories are all provided with reading rooms which are supplied with the most important books of reference and some periodicals. The main Library and reading room is in the Carnegie building and contains about three thousand volumes and the standard magazines with many newspapers. The library and reading room are open daily to students without charge.

Publications.—THE AURORA, a monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the care of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular religious services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A Young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., a young Ladies' Missionary Society and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Saviour.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of all students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents and guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the ground on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. By means of the brick yard and Agricultural Department many young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes towards his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years.

Students' Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the drives or fences of the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—The Prescott Declamation and Oration Prize, given by Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, consisting of $15, is awarded as follows: The girls' sections choose each two contestants, one for Essay and one for Declamation. In like manner the boys' societies choose each two contestants for Oration and Debate. Each successful contestant receives $3.75.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Any one knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and postoffice address to the President of the college.

Need of an Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

College and Normal Departments

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and German.
Rose Marshall, A. B., Mathematics and Physics.
H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.
J. M. Moore, Ph. D., Latin and Psychology.
Anna Belle Ferrier, English.
Howard Wallace, B. S., Chemistry, Biology and Agriculture.
Helen Hearst, Music.
Matilda Wishart, B. S. Mathematics.
Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.
Grace R. Braham, Domestic Science.

In the College Departments there are two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.) These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the Normal course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
 Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Theology, Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.
 James M. Moore, Ph. D., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, Homiletics.
 Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now, others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew and Church History (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis of Genesis and Psalms. Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcomed to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Industrial Department

Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.

Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Professor of Agriculture and Chemistry.

R. B. Marshall, A. M., Professor of Physics and Mathematics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, Professor of English.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Grace R. Braham, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Arthur E. Hale, Instructor in Printing.

Thomas S. Cochran, Superintendent of Farm.

George W. Hurd, Teacher of Carpentry.

Harry C. Cansler, Teacher of Blacksmithing.

Hugh L. Cansler, Teacher of Wheelwrighting.

Vm. Thomas Jones, Instructor in Elementary Woodwork.

Iarcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas. E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instruction used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $8,750 has been given for the year 1908-9.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

Scholarships.—Candidates for scholarships must be bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee, at least sixteen years of age, and must pass a satisfactory examination upon branches in the common school course of the state. Students who have been in attendance in Knoxville College will be eligible for appointment after reaching our First Normal Year. Candidates for scholarships not already students will take an examination before their county superintendent in May or June of each year on the day he appoints, or the examination may be taken before the faculty of Knoxville College at the opening of the fall term in September. Upon passing the examination their names will then be submitted to their representatives and senators or the president of the University for appointment. Students thus admitted are assigned work, if they desire it, in some branch of the Industrial Department, and receive pay for their work.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the students training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, are given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silos, creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged green house affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of competent instructors and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A large cylinder press, run by steam, does the heavier work, such as catalogues and newspapers, while a job press turns out programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, but was greatly developed during the past year. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year. About 1,000,000 brick are made each summer.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. During the past summer the Carnegie Building was erected entirely by student bricklayers.

Dressmaking.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate departments. The smaller boys also of the Training School sew. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 1800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department

Col. H. Edward Goetz, an officer of the National Guard of Tennessee, and State Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.30. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department

Miss Helen Hearst, Director.—The Department of Music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns seven pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE.—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best Composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the works of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In voice building the Italian method is used. Good breath control and correct placing of the tone are insisted upon. Vocalises by Sieber, Concone, Marchesi and Lamperti are used.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention. In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch, scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Licher, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46; Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Schubert and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16,

Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Masters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

Nurse Training Department

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, 49x34, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated from the central heating plant and lighted with electricity from the college lighting plant. The building contains an operating room with sky light, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and a female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and cities.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The Hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

Necessary Expenses

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students

First Grade to Fifth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....	$2 50
Sixth to Eighth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....	3 00
Normal and College Classes: Incidental Fee $2.50, Tuition $3.00. Total, paid on entering, each term.....	5 50
State Scholarship Students in the Normal and College courses have free tuition which makes their expenses $3.00 a term less.

Expenses of Boarders

The School Year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.
Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....	$2 50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid in advance , per month.....	7 50
If not paid in advance Boarding is 50 cents a month higher.
State Scholarship Students in the Boarding Department have free incidental fee, hence their expenses are $2.50 a term less
Boarding and Incidental Fee amount to $25 for a term of 12 weeks and most parents will find it most convenient to remit for a term at a time.

Four Weeks constitute a School Month.

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 26.

Students in Chemistry are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $30 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work or if they prefer to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial, or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained in its literary department by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elects the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The Industrial Department of the College is maintained by an appropriation from the University of Tennessee. This department is one of the departments of the University, by which provision is made according to the laws of Tennessee for colored students. Instructors in this department are nominated by the College Board and elected by the University Board.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1875. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 75,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprise of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study room for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected two years ago. The building includes besides ample provision for library and reading rooms sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes all recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the Mechanical trades. The elementary wood work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building which contains Assembly room, Laboratory, Dairy, Office, Library and Reading Room, with store rooms in basement. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valued testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skillful attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they will be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs, and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow-cases will be sold at cost of material and making.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and four cotton waists and two untrimmed white waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls, and cost about $1.40 each. A regulation uniform hat is used for all below the Normal, and costs about 75 cents.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boys' Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men will be required to procure the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cap, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.30.

Girls' Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for young women.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Saturday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

Reading Room and Library.—The different dormitories are all provided with reading rooms which are supplied with the most important books of reference and some periodicals. The main Library and reading room is in the Carnegie building and contains about three thousand volumes and the standard magazines with many newspapers. The library and reading room are open daily to students without charge.

Publications.—THE AURORA, a monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the care of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular religious services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A Young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., a young Ladies' Missionary Society and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Saviour.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of all students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents and guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the ground on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. By means of the brick yard and Agricultural Department many young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes towards his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years.

Students' Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the drives or fences of the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—The Prescott Declamation and Oration Prize, given by Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, consisting of $15, is awarded as follows: The girls' sections choose each two contestants, one for Essay and one for Declamation. In like manner the boys' societies choose each two contestants for Oration and Debate. Each successful contestant receives $3.75.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

Contests.—An intercollegiate Contest debate is held with Talladega College. Two representatives from the College department of each institution constitute the debating contest.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Any one knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and postoffice address to the President of the college.

Lecture Course—A weekly lecture by a member of the faculty or other person selected for it is given in the Chapel. A regular lecture course consisting of six or more lectures is given and thus the students have the opportunity of hearing famous speakers. During the past year the following have been heard on the College platform. Dr. Booker T. Washington, Dr. James Carson, Edward Brigham, Nellie Amber Crossen, Mrs. Pattie Brown, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Hon. Eugene M. Webb, Rev. H. D. Ketchum, D. D., Rev. Dr. R. S. Rives, Hon. John M. Green, Judge Hu L. McClung, Rev. C. B. Waller, and others.

Need of an Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

College and Normal Departments

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and German.
Rose Marshall, A. B., Mathematics and Physics.
H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.
J. M. Moore, Ph. D., Latin and Psychology.
Anna Belle Ferrier, English.
Howard Wallace, B. S., Chemistry, Biology and Agriculture.
Helen Hearst, Music.
Matilda Wishart, B. S., Mathematics.
Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.
Grace R. Braham, Domestic Science.

In the College Departments there are two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.) These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the Normal course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.
 Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Theology, Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.
 James M. Moore, Ph. D., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, Homiletics.
 Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew and Church History.
 (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis of Genesis and Psalms. Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcomed to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Industrial Department

Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.

Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Professor of Agriculture and Chemistry.

R. B. Marshall, A. M., Professor of Physics and Mathematics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, Professor of English.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Grace R. Braham, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Arthur E. Hale, Instructor in Printing.

J. H. Michael, Teacher of Carpentry, Mechanical Drawing.

Harry C. Cansler, Teacher of Blacksmithing.

Hugh L. Cansler, Teacher of Wheelwrighting.

Harcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas. E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instruction used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $9,200 has been given for the year 1909-10.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

Scholarships.—Candidates for scholarships must be bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee, at least sixteen years of age, and must pass a satisfactory examination upon branches in the common school course of the state. Students who have been in attendance in Knoxville College will be eligible for appointment after reaching our First Normal Year. Candidates for scholarships not already students will take an examination before their county superintendent in May or June of each year on the day he appoints, or the examination may be taken before the faculty of Knoxville College at the opening of the fall term in September. Upon passing the examination their names will then be submitted to their representatives and senators or the president of the University for appointment. Students thus admitted are assigned work, if they desire it, in some branch of the Industrial Department, and receive pay for their work.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the students training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, are given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silos, creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged green house affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of competent instructors and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improved fountain, has been installed the past year for the heavier work, such as catalogues and newspapers, while a job press turns out programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year. About 1,000,000 brick are made each summer.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building was erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Dressmaking.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate departments. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 1800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department

Col. H. Edward Goetz, an officer of the National Guard of Tennessee, and State Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.30. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department

Miss Helen Hearst, Director.—The Department of Music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns seven pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE.—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best Composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the works of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention. In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch, scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Lichner, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46; Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Kuhlau and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16, Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas, Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Meisters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

Nurse Training Department

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, 49x34, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated from the central heating plant and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with sky light, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and a female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and cities.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The Hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

Necessary Expenses

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students

First Grade to Fifth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....$2 50
Sixth to Eighth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term..... 3 00
Normal and College Classes: Incidental Fee $2.50, Tuition
$3.00. Total, paid on entering, each term..... 5 50
State Scholarship Students in the Normal and College courses have free tuition which makes their expenses $3.00 a term less.

Expenses of Boarders

The School Year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.
Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....$2 50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid in advance,
per month..... 7 50
If not paid in advance Boarding is 50 cents a month higher.
State Scholarship Students in the Boarding Department have free incidental fee, hence their expenses are $2.50 a term less.
Boarding and Incidental Fee amount to $25 for a term of 12 weeks and most parents will find it most convenient to remit for a term at a time.

Four Weeks constitute a School Month.

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 26.

Students in Chemistry are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial, or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained in its literary department by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elect the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The Industrial Department of the College is maintained by an appropriation from the University of Tennessee. This department is one of the departments of the University, by which provision is made according to the laws of Tennessee for colored students. Instructors in this department are nominated by the College Board and elected by the University Board.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the "McKee School" in Nashville, so-called from its first Principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1870. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 75,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition, a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprises of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty-one by forty-three feet. It is two stories high and contains seventeen rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall —The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercise without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the Domestic Science Department and Bakery; on the second floor for teachers' rooms, and on the third for the Literary Society Halls.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected three years ago. The building includes besides ample provision for library and reading rooms sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

Mechanical Building.—This Building provides accommodations for the Mechanical trades. The Elementary Wood Work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and their families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valuable testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skillful attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 per month in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they may be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, comb, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow cases will be sold at cost of material and making. In the McDill

Home the bed linen is provided; but the girls are requested to bring along blankets instead of sheets.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and four cotton waists and two untrimmed white waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of a plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As we buy all goods at wholesale rates, and sell at exactly what they cost us, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls, and cost about $1.40 each. A regular uniform hat is used for all below the Normal, and costs about 75 cents.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of white India linen (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises,

Boy's Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

All young men in the Boarding Department will be required to procure the military uniform which costs for the entire suit, including cab, $9.75. If the student has a pair of dark trousers he will be required to get only the blouse and cap, costing $6.35.

Girl's Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A lady of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for young women.

Literary Societies.—Four vigorous literary societies, two for young men and two for young women, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men on Saturday night. Two well furnished and attractive halls in the Wallace Hall Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

The Library.—The Carnegie Library affords first-class library and reading room privileges to the students without charge. The large reading room on the main floor of the Library is supplied with all the leading magazines, and students spend their vacant periods in this room where they may use the periodicals or library books or study as they prefer. The library contains over 3000 volumes.

Publications.—THE AURORA, a monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The KNOXVILLE COLLEGE BULLETIN is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the of health and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at Church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Saviour.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

In the Fourth Normal year a course is given in Bible Teacher Training, intended to equip students for organizing and conducting Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents or guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all time to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the grounds on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.-- Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanagable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life.

The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. A limited number of young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, ect., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes toward his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one-fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years, amounting in the full total to $75.00.

Student's Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—Through the generosity of Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, prizes are offered as follows: For Public Speaking a prize of $15.00, the contest to be conducted as the faculty may direct.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

Contests.—A triangular intercollegiate contest debate is held annually with Talladega College and Atlanta Baptist College. Four contestants are chosen by each institution, two constituting the team to uphold the affirmative of the question at the home college and the other two the negative at one of the other institutions. The same question is debated on the same date at the three Colleges.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in a department for this purpose in the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at the best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Anyone knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend, may send a postal card with the name and post office address to the President of the college.

Lecture Course.—A weekly lecture by a member of the faculty or other person selected for it is given in the Chapel. A regular lecture course consisting of six or more lectures is given and thus the students have the opportunity of hearing famous speakers. During the past year the following have been heard on the college platform. Dr. Edgar J. Banks, Mrs. Patti Brown, Dr. W. D. Weatherford, Mrs. Myrtle Foote, Dr. M. W. Gilbert, Miss Hallie Q. Brown, Pres. Byrd Prillerman, Dr. J. W. Witherspoon, Dr. J. R. J. Milligan, Miss Elizabeth Ross, Dr. R. I. Gamon, Pres. J. Knox Montgomery, Pres. C. O. Gray, and others.

Need of Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,.....,do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum ofDollars, (or all that lot of land situated etc.)

Clara Woestemeyer, Domestic Science.

In the College Departments there are two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.) and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.) These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshman class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

One term is given to Pedagogy and special attention is given to the methods of teaching throughout the Normal course.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Theological Department

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.

Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Theology, Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.

James M. Moore, Ph. D., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, Homiletics.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Life of Christ.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew or Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.
THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcome to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

Industrial Department

Faculty.—Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.
Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Professor of Agriculture and Chemistry.

R. B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Professor of Physics and Mathematics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, Professor of English.

William L. Porter, A. B., A. M., Zoology, Botany, Geology, English.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Clara Woestemeyer, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Arthur E. Hale, Instructor in Printing.

J. H. Michael, Teacher of Carpentry, Mechanical Drawing.

Harry C. Cansler, Teacher of Blacksmithing.

Hugh L. Cansler, Teacher of Wheelwrighting.

George Hoffman, Dairy and stock foreman.

Young D. Bryant, Foreman in Brick Masonary.

Harcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas. E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instruction used. The professors and foremen in the department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $10,350 has been given for the year 1910-11.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

State Scholarships.—All students who are bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee and as far advanced as the First Normal year receive the benefit of the State University Scholarship. This includes free tuition, (which does not of course include boarding), and the opportunity of working for pay in the Industrial Department. Tennessee students also, if as far advanced as the First Normal year have the benefit of the state law providing for the traveling expenses to and from Knoxville College. All such students who remain through the session will receive a part or the whole of their railroad fare to and from Knoxville College, one round trip annually. The distribution is made annually about June 1st.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical Work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, and incidentally a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the student training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

All students in the First Year Normal and Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instruction in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similar lines, is given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silo, creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged greenhouse affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The industrial building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of competent instructors and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improvements, has been installed for the heavier work, such as catalogues, halftones and booklets, while a job press prints programs, letter heads, bills heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building was erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Broom Making.—The industry of broom making has been found to meet the demands of many desiring to learn a trade. A ready market is found for all the brooms manufactured, which average about 600 a month.

Dress Making.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year

Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate Departments. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 1800 loaves a week being turned out.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the usual public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

Military Department

Col. H. Edward Goetz, an officer of the National Guard of Tennessee, and state Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, and of large and thorough experience in military tactics and affairs, is in charge of the military company.

Arms and equipment have been furnished by the government, and drills are held twice a week by the officer in command. The end aimed at is physical development and prompt obedience as well as ability to command. Young men in the Boarding Department will be required to secure the military uniform blouse and cap, costing $6.35. Trousers may be included when the cost will be $9.75.

Music Department

Miss Agnes Woestemeyer, Director.—The Department of Music provides for the most thorough training in vocal and piano music. The department occupies most pleasant rooms and owns eight pianos for teaching and practice.

Vocal music is required throughout the grades and the First Normal Year, and is taught without extra charge.

Students completing the course described below and having finished a literary course equivalent to the Normal course, will be given a diploma by the college.

LENGTH OF COURSE—Five terms of Harmony and two of Musical History in addition to the prescribed course on the piano-forte will be required. After some proficiency on the piano forte has been acquired, voice culture may be substituted for piano by applicants for a diploma.

In these departments only a general outline can be given as the treatment of each individual depends on his personal needs. Throughout the course studies and compositions by the best composers will be thoroughly studied.

It is the aim to develop the natural musical instinct of the pupil that he may be able both to appreciate good music and to interpret the work of the Masters himself. To this end the forming of a repertoire is begun early and continued throughout the course.

In the piano department, the formation of an artistic touch and production of a beautiful tone are given most careful attention.

In general, the materials in Matthew's Graded Course are used. Supplementary to this the following course is laid down:

Grade 1. Formation of touch scales, major and minor, studies by Kohler, Duvernoy. Easy pieces by Spindler, Lichner, Gurlitt and Reinecke.

Grade 2. Studies by Loeschorn, Bertini; Op. 29 and 32; Heller, Op. 47 and 46: Octave Studies. Sonatines by Clementi, Kuhlau and Haydn. Pieces by Dussek, Mozart, Field, Schubert and Jensen.

Grade 3. Etudes, Czerny, Op. 740; Heller, Op. 45 and 16, Kullak, Octave Studies; Sonatas, Mozart, Beethoven; Two and three part Inventions, Bach; Songs Without Words, Mendelssohn. Other pieces by Handel, Schumann, Weber, Chopin, Raff, Rheinberger, Moszkowski; Ensemble playing.

Grade 4. Trill, octave and bravura work. Well Tempered Clavichord, Bach; Etudes Op. 25 and 10, Chopin; Sonatas, Beethoven. Pieces selected from the Alte Meisters; Modern compositions by Rubenstein, Grieg, Liszt, Saint Saens and the new Russian School.

Frequent students' recitals will be given, which all pupils in the department are required to attend.

Nurse Training Department

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, 49x34, with basement kitchen and laundry. An addition 20x30, with large two story porch is being erected and will be ready for occupancy by fall. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated from the central heating plant and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with sky light, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and a female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and states.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nursers extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The Hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

NECESSARY EXPENSES

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

Expenses of Day Students

First Grade to Fifth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering, each term.....	$2 50
Sixth to Eighth Grade: Tuition and Incidental Fee, paid on entering each term.....	3 00
Normal and College Classes: Incidental Fee $2.50, Tuition $3.00. Total, paid on entering, each term.....	5 50
State Scholarship Students in the Normal and College courses have free tuition which makes their expenses $3.00 a term less.

Expenses of Boarders

The School Year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.
Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term.....	$2 50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid in advance , per month	7 50
If not paid in advance Boarding is 50 cents a month higher.
State Scholarship Students in the Boarding Department have Free Incidental Fee, hence their expenses are $2.50 a term less.
Boarding and Incidental Fee amount to $25 for a term of 12 weeks and most parents will find it most convenient to remit for a term at a time.

Four weeks constitute a School Month.
Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 30.
Students in Chemistry and Zoology are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

Five or six dollars more may be required for books, postage, stationery and mending.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or, its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft, or registered letter. Money orders, checks or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—KNOXVILLE COLLEGE is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained in its literary department by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elect the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The Industrial Department of the College is maintained by an appropriation from the University of Tennessee. This department is one of the departments of the University, by which provision is made according to the laws of Tennessee for colored students. Instructors in this department are nominated by the College Board and elected by the University Board.

The college is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the "McKee School" in Nashville, so-called from its first Principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1870. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September, 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a college under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees,—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid-summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 75,000. About one-fifth of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprises of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

Grounds and Buildings.—The college property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, besides residences for the faculty, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty one by forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains twenty rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L. one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with hot and cold water on each floor. The Music Parlors, located in this building, afford ample and beautiful quarters for this growing department. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building gives ample opportunity for open air exercises without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the domestic Science Department, on the second and third floors for teachers' rooms.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected three years ago. The building includes besides ample provision for library and reading rooms sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the mechanical trades. The Elementary Wood Work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Broom Making, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and their families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of Brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valuable testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skilled attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 per month in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they may be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, combs, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow cases will be sold at cost of material and making. In the McDill

Home the bed linen is provided; but the girls are requested to bring along blankets instead of sheets.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and four cotton waists and two untrimmed white waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As all goods are bought at wholesale rates, and sold at exactly what they cost, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls, and cost about $1.40 each. A regular uniform hat is used for all below the Normal, and costs about seventy-five cents.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of approved material (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boy's Dormitory.—Boys under fifteen years of age are not received in the Boarding Department.

Girl's Home.—All girls under sixteen years of age, are comfortably provided for in this home. Children whose parents are still living, as well as orphans, are admitted. A matron of experience and ability takes charge of the girls, and teaches them to do the various kinds of housework, including the washing, ironing, and mending their own clothes; shows them how to get their lessons, and as far as possible, supplies the place of a Christian mother. Each girl has her own single cot, and a separate drawer for her clothing. Bath tubs, with hot and cold water, are in the adjoining room. The laundry is fitted up with stationary tubs, so that nearly all heavy carrying and lifting are avoided. The expense is the same as for young women.

Literary Societies.—Five vigorous literary societies, one for the College Department, two for the young men in the Normal and Preparatory, and two for young women in the Normal and Preparatory, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men and college on Monday night. Three well furnished and attractive halls in the Main College Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings, including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

The Library.—The Carnegie Library affords first-class library and reading room privileges to the students without charge. The large reading room on the main floor of the Library is supplied with all the leading magazines, and students spend their vacant periods in this room where they may use the periodicals or library books or study as they prefer. The library contains over 3000 volumes.

Publications.—THE AURORA, a monthly paper devoted to college interests, is published by the faculty and students of the college.

The KNOXVILLE COLLEGE BULLETIN is the official organ of the college and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—A spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet has been provided and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in out-door athletics careful provision is made for the health of and the development of sturdy strength.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at Church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

In the Fourth Normal year a course is given in Bible Teacher Training, intended to equip students for organizing and conducting Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning, which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents or guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all times to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the grounds on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Notify the President when you will arrive and you will be met at the train.

If you should arrive without any one to meet you, take the Lonsdale car near the Southern depot, or the Church and Euclid car near the L. & N. depot and get off at Clinton street, and you will have but a short distance to walk. Retain your baggage check until you reach the college when you can have your baggage delivered cheaper than by securing some one at the depot.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not need immediately. Money can be deposited in the college safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanagable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desired to prepare for usefulness in life.

The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the monthly and examination grades. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Agricultural Courses receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking and the trades receive a certificate.

No fees are charged for diplomas.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. A limited number of young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes toward his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one-fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years, amounting in the full total to $75.00.

Student's Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the college property.

Prizes.—Through the generosity of Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, prizes are offered as follows: For Public Speaking a prize of $15.00, the contest to be conducted as the faculty may direct.

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

The Prescott Reading Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to three students in the Grammar Department making the greatest progress in reading during the year.

Contests.—A triangular intercollegiate contest debate is held annually with Talladega College and Atlanta Baptist College.

Four contestants are chosen by each institution, two constituting the team to uphold the affirmative of the question at the home college and the other two the negative at one of the other institutions. The same question is debated on the same date at the three Colleges.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in the supply department of the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Anyone knowing a young lady or gentleman who ought to attend may send a postal card with the name and post office address to the President of the college.

Lecture Course.—A weekly lecture by a member of the faculty or other person selected for it is given in the Chapel. A regular lecture course consisting of six or more lectures is given and thus the students have the opportunity of hearing famous speakers. During the past year the following have been heard on the college platform: Dr. Edgar J. Banks, Dr. M. W. Gilbert, Dr. J. W. Witherspoon, Rev. George E. Raitt, William T. Ellis, Rev. D. Glenn Moore, Rev. J. M. Taylor, Rev. I. P. Martin, D. D., W. A. Hunton, Rev. W. H. Moses, Arthur Delroy, Dr. R. I. Gamon, Pres. J. Knox Montgomery, and others.

Need of Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance that the institution is becoming widely and favorably known. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the college buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,....., do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of.....Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated etc.)

In the College Departments there are two regular courses offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, (A. B.) and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.) These courses are fully delineated in the Curriculum of study.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

The Normal Course is intended both to prepare students for the regular college classes, and especially to teach in the public schools.

The graduates of the Normal Department are received into the Freshmen class of the College Department.

Thorough review of the common branches is given while the more advanced studies are taken up.

Special attention is given to Pedagogy, Child Study, Psychology and the methods of teaching throughout the Normal course.

MOXVILLE COLLEGE

Moxville, Tenn.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth grades.

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.

Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Theology, Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.

Herbert M. Tilford, A. B., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature.

Frank P. Hiner, A. B., Life of Christ, Homiletics,

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

FIRST YEAR

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Hebrew or Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

THIRD TERM.—Sacred Rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Systematic Theology.

FIRST AND SECOND TERMS.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.
THIRD TERM.—The Life of Our Lord.

THIRD YEAR.

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the college and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History, Homiletics Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcome to the weekly teacher's meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the college equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—Brown Ayres, Ph. D., LL. D., President.
Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., Director.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Professor of Physics, Biology and Chemistry.

R. B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Professor of Physics.

Harcourt A. Morgan, B. S. A., and Chas. E. Ferris, B. S., Advisory Professors in Agriculture and Mechanics.

The department of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was created in 1891 by the University of Tennessee. By a contract between the University and Knoxville College it was agreed that the University should make annual appropriations to the support of the Industrial Department as might be necessary and the College should provide all buildings and the necessary instruction in the strictly literary branches.

The Industrial Department is a distinct department of the University. It meets the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Tennessee (see the Code, Art. 4, Sec. 339) which direct "That no citizen of this state otherwise qualified shall be excluded from the privileges of the University by reason of his race or color, but the accommodations of persons of color shall be separate from the white."

The President of the University and the Professors of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts have immediate supervision of the course of study, the equipment and the methods of instruction used. The professors and foreman in this department are elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University makes such appropriations from year to year as are necessary to maintain the department. The amount of $10,000 has been given for the year 1911-12.

The relation with the college enables the students of the Industrial Department to obtain without extra charge all the advantages of the Literary Department, and in like manner the college students have the advantage of the Industrial Department.

State Scholarship.—All students who are bona fide residents of the State of Tennessee and as far advanced as the First Normal year receive the benefit of the State University Scholarship. This includes free tuition, (which does not of course include boarding), and the opportunity of working for pay in the Industrial Department. Tennessee students also, if as far advanced as the First Normal year have the benefit of the state law providing for the traveling expenses to and from Knoxville College. All such students who remain through the session will receive a part or the whole of their railroad fare to and from Knoxville College, one round trip annually. The distribution is made annually about June 1st.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one branch of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical Work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, and incidently a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The college grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the student training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

The full course in Agriculture is delineated in the curriculum with the other courses of study.

All students in the First Year Normal and the Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A Short Course in Agriculture is offered during the winter months. A course of lectures on Poultry Raising, special instructions in dairying, with practical experiments in milk testing and stock judging, greenhouse work and similiar lines, is given in addition to the regular studies in Agriculture. This Short Course is meeting a very important need.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silo, creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on extensively by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged greenhouse affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The Industrial Building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Students in this Department pursue a regular course in wood work, iron, and mechanical drawing. They are under the direction of competent instructors and produce articles to be sold at the market price. They are made familiar with the use of tools and taught how to care for them and how to keep them in order.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improvements, has been installed for the heavier work, such as catalogues, halftones and booklets, while a job press prints programs, letter heads, bills heads, circulars, posters etc., to meet the demands of trade. The work is under the direction of a practical printer who teaches all the phases of printing office work.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building and hospital were erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Broom Making.—The industry of broom making has been found to meet the demands of many desiring to learn a trade. A ready market is found for all the brooms manufactured, which average about 1200 a month.

Dress Making.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. A lady of practical experience superintends the work. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

A certificate is given to those who complete the course and are as far advanced in the Literary Department as through the Grammar School Course.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate Departments. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training.

Under the direction of this department a large oven does the baking for all the boarders, about 1800 loaves a week being baked.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the best public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

The student teachers are instructed in assigning lessons, conducting the recitations and are held responsible for the good order of the classes.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

VERA R. BARBER, DIRECTOR.

The aim is to produce broad minded, thinking students, to give an adequate amount of time and attention to the technical as well as to the emotional side of the student's nature and to throw such influence about him as will be conducive to the growth of a musical and appreciative mind.

The department offers courses in Piano, Voice and Theory.

Diplomas will be granted to all who have completed the required course in Piano and Theory or Voice and Theory and a literary course equivalent to the Normal course.

PIANO FORTE

1.—Technical Exercises which are intended to give control of the muscles of the fingers, hands and arms, making them responsive to the will. Study in the use of the pedals.

2.—Studies by the best teachers and composers designed to give further development to the executive power, etc.

3.—Compositions of merit by the best writers for æsthetic development; application of the principles of pedaling.

VOICE

1.—Technics, consisting of exercises that promote the proper use and development of the mouth, throat and breathing organs.

2.—Studies for the application of the principles learned in Technics.

3.—Songs embodying the principles learned in Technics and studies of Expression.

THEORY.

Harmony, the study of chords, their formation and combination, part writing, etc.

Musical History—the study of ancient and primitive music church music, instrumental music, opera, lives of great masters, etc.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC.

Public school music is required throughout the grades, and is taught without extra charge.

RECITALS.

Class Recitals at which only students may be present, are held by the Director frequently. Public Recitals are held at which students sufficiently advanced are required to appear and to which the public is invited.

COLLEGE CHORUS.

The College Chorus is under the management of the Director and meets weekly for the study of the greater vocal works. Work is carried on through nearly the entire year. There is no extra charge. The Chorus appears in concert during Commencement week.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with sky light, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and states.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The Hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

NECESSARY EXPENSES

FOR STATEMENT OF EXPENSES
FOR THE YEAR 1913-1914, SEE
SPECIAL BULLETIN.

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man or woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

State Scholarship Students in the Normal and College courses have free tuition which makes their expenses $3.00 a term less

EXPENSES OF BOARDERS

The School year consists of three terms of twelve weeks each.
Incidental fee, paid on entering, each term.....$2.50
Boarding, fuel, light, and furnished room, if paid in advance,
per month..... 7.50
If not paid in advance Boarding is 50 cents a month higher.
State Scholarship Students in the Boarding Department have Free Incidental Fee, hence their expenses are $2.50 a term less.
Boarding and Incidental Fee amount to $25 for a term of 12 weeks and most parents will find it most convenient to remit for a term at a time.

Four weeks constitute a School Month.

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 30.

Students in Chemistry in the Normal Department are required to pay a laboratory fee of twenty-five cents a term.

FOR THE YEAR 1913-1914, SEE
SPECIAL BULLETIN.

Students in Chemistry and Zoology in the college pay a laboratory fee of one dollar a term.

Five or six dollars will be required for books' postage, and stationery.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the incidental fee and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or, its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents an examination.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention, carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft, or registered letter. Money orders, checks, or drafts should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—Knoxville College is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elect the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The College is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first Principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1870. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE—FRONT VIEW—SHOWING FIVE OF THE FIFTEEN BUILDINGS ON THE CAMPUS

College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a College under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 80,000. About one-seventh of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprises of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

All these things combine to make the location an ideal one for an educational institution.

Grounds and Buildings.—The College property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, besides residences for the faculty, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty one by forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains twenty rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

On the Third floor are located the Literary Society halls, the Music Studio and four music practice rooms.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet, with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of the late Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with toilet, hot and cold water on each floor. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building with two stories gives ample opportunity for open air exercises without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the domestic Science Department, on the second and third floors for teachers' rooms.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected four years ago. The building includes, besides ample provision for library and reading rooms, sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the mechanical trades. The Elementary Wood Work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Broom Making, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and their families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valuable testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skilled attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery, hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding and room rent see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 per month, in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department. A charge of 15 cents per meal is made for meals taken in the dining room.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they may be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, combs, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow cases will be sold at cost of material and making. In the McDill Home the bed linen is provided; but the girls are requested to bring along blankets instead of sheets.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and four cotton waists and two untrimmed white waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As all goods are bought at wholesale rates, and sold at exactly what they cost, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls, and cost about $1.40 each. A regular uniform hat is used for all below the Normal, and costs about seventy-five cents.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal women graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of approved material (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under-graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boarding Halls.—Three boarding halls, two for girls and one large one for boys provide for the boarding students. A competent matron has charge of each hall. Boys are not received younger than 15 years of age.

Girls as young as 12 are received in the McDill Home and those over 16 are assigned to the young women's hall.

Each of these halls is fitted up with a well equipped laundry, with stationary tubs, and hot and cold water. Each hall has its own bathrooms and toilets, and all the buildings are lighted with electricity and heated with steam heat.

The older students have separate rooms for two or three in a room, but the McDill Home has a large study hall and a dormitory in which each girl has her own single bed.

Literary Societies.—Five vigorous literary societies, one for the College Department, two for the young men in the Normal and Preparatory, and two for young women in the Normal and Preparatory, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men and College on Monday night. Three well furnished and attractive halls in the Main College Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings, including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

The Library.—The Carnegie Library affords first-class library and reading room privileges to the students without charge. The large reading room on the main floor of the Library is supplied with all the leading magazines, and students spend their vacant periods in this room where they may use the periodicals or library books or study as they prefer. The library contains over 4,000 volumes.

Publications.—The Aurora, a monthly paper devoted to College interests, is published by the faculty and students of the College. The subscription price is 25 cents per year.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the College and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—The young men have a spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet under the Chapel and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in outdoor athletics careful provision is made for the health of and the development of sturdy strength.

The young women have in their own hall a good gymnasium where they are given healthful exercises. Basket ball, tennis and other open air games are much used in favorable weather.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at Church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

In the Fourth Normal year a course is given in Bible Teacher Training, intended to equip students for organizing and conducting Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes.

In the College classes the classical students study the New Testament in the Original, while others pursue courses in the English Bible or Church History.

Volunteer Bible Study and Mission Study classes are conducted by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

All students on entering sign the following statement and pledge: "I have examined the regulations of Knoxville College and as far as I know them I believe them to be right, and hereby promise to conform to them while I remain a student of the institution."

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning, which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents or guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all times to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the grounds on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Students intending to enter the College should fill out and return the application blank found in the catalogue. A certificate should always be obtained from the school last attended showing that the student left in good standing, except when he was graduated, in which case the diploma will be sufficient. Those who are candidates for advanced classes would do well to secure from the school they have been attending a full record of their grades, showing subjects studied, how long each one was pursued, and the grade received in each subject.

The requirements for admission to each course are set forth in the description of the courses.

The College is readily reached by taking the Lonsdale car at the Southern Depot and the Church and Euclid car at the Louisville and Nashville depot, and leaving the car at Clinton Street, when there will be but a short walk to the College.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the College safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanageable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the daily and examination grades, the former counting two-thirds and the latter one-third. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal Course receive diplomas, and those who complete the course in dressmaking, domestic science and the trades receive a certificate.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. A limited number of young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

Labor credits are not payable in cash, but are held in trust to meet future College bills. In case of a student leaving school with such credits they are subject to discount in settlement.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses, no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes toward his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one-fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years, amounting in the full total to $87.00.

Student's Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the College property.

Prizes and Contests—Through the generosity of the late Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, prizes are offered as follows:

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

The Prescott Reading Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to three students in the Grammar Department making the greatest progress in reading during the year.

The Prescott Bible Reading and Bible Essay Contest prize, consisting of $15, is divided between those students ranking first in rendering selections of Scripture or preparing original essays on Bible subjects.

The Alumni scholarship prize of $10, is awarded to that student in the College department whose scholarship ranks highest for the year.

A triangular intercollegiate contest debate is held annually with Talladega College and Atlanta Baptist College. Four contestants are chosen by each institution, two constituting the team to uphold the affirmative of the question at the home college and the other two the negative at one of the other institutions. The same question is debated on the same date at the three Colleges.

The Normal Alumni Literary contest prize consisting of $16, is awarded to successful contestants chosen from the Normal Literary Societies, on debates, orations, essays and declamations.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in the supply department of the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Anyone knowing a young man or woman who ought to attend may send a postal card with the name and post office address to the President of the college.

Lectures.—Frequent lectures are given in connection with the chapel exercises or in connection with the regular lecture course at night. Among those who have spoken from the College platform the past year are the following: Dr. Edgar J. Banks, Dr. W. H. Moses, Rev. L. A. Patrick, Sec. W. A. Hunton, Rev. Huber Ferguson, Dr. Chas. F. Wishart, Dr. H. W. Bond, Dr. W. C. Williamson, Dr. J. W. Witherspoon, Dr. B. C. Henning, Dr. Josiah Sibley, Dr. Lewis B. Moore, Miss Azalia Hackley, A. M. Trawick, Dr. J. A. Duff, Pres. J. L. Snyder, Prof. A. C. Holt, Dr. J. B. Work.

Need of Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance of the enlarging influence of the institution. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the College buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Missions to the Freedmen of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

DEPARTMENTS

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President, Professor of Homiletics.

Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature.

Frank P. Hiner, A. B., Life of Christ, Theology.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

First Year

Throughout the Year.—Hebrew or Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

First and Second Terms.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

Third Term.—Sacred Rhetoric.

Second Year

Throughout the Year.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Systematic Theology.

First and Second Terms.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

Third Term.—The Life of Our Lord.

Third Year

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the College and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History. Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government, as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcome to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President, Moral Science.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Dean of College, Greek and Latin.

Rosannah B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Mathematics and Physics.

H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, English.

Howard Wallace, B. S., Chemistry, German and Agriculture.

Myrtle Grace Bond, A. B., Geology, Astronomy, Mathematics.

Frank Phillip Hiner, A. B., Psychology, Sociology, History of Philosophy, Constitutional Government.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

One unit of work means the pursuit of a given subject through a school year of 36 weeks with five recitations a week. Admission to Freshman class requires the satisfactory completion of the subjects of a standard high school course extending through the Twelfth Grade. Graduates of the Normal Course of Knoxville College are received into the Freshman Class.

Expressed by units the requirements are as follows:

Mathematics	3	units
English	3	units
Latin	3	units
Greek or English Literature.....	1	unit
History	1½	units
Science	2	units
Psychology and Child Study.....	1	unit
Civics	½	unit

15 units

In the College Department there are two regular courses of four years each offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, (A. B.) and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B.S.)

NORMAL AND COLLEGE PREPARATORY
DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—R. W. McGranahan, President.

Rosannah B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Principal Normal Department, Science and Mathematics.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and Latin.

H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, English.

Matilda Wishart, B. S., Mathematics.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Chemistry and Agriculture.

Frank Philip Hiner, A. B., Psychology, Pedagogy, Child Study.

E. Isabel Kerr, Teacher Training, Critic Teacher.

Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.

Marion Hamlen, Domestic Science.

The Normal Course provides the equivalent of a first class high school course extending through the Twelfth Grade. In addition to the studies of the High School it requires a course in pedagogy, a course in elementary psychology and child study and one year of practice teaching under the critic teacher.

The College Preparatory Course is the same as the Normal except that the features distinctly pedagogical, as the study of pedagogy and practice teaching, are not required. The advantage, however, of having these features is so evident that the pursuit of the Normal Course is recommended to those whose purpose it is to pursue the College Course as well as those who simply wish to prepare for teaching in the common schools.

The substitution of Agriculture for Latin is allowed to those who wish to make a specialty of Agricultural study and work.

Provision is made for a thorough review of the common branches.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth grades.

NORMAL COURSE

FIRST YEAR

Mathematics—Arithmetic (Hamilton). Fall Term.

Bookkeeping—Winter Term.

Algebra—(Wentworth). Winter and Spring Terms.

Rhetoric—(Scott and Denney). Three Terms.

General History—(Myer). Three Terms.

Agriculture—(Burkett, Stevens and Hill). Fall Term.

Ethics—(Everett). Spring Term.

SECOND YEAR

Mathematics—Algebra (Wentworth). Three Terms.

English—American Literature (Matthews). Fall Term and half of Winter Term.

Rhetoric—Paragraph Structure and Themes. Half of Winter Term and Spring Term.

Physical Geography—(Davis). Fall and Winter Terms.

Civil Government—(Dunn). Spring Term.

Latin—(Bennett's First Year). Three Terms.

THIRD YEAR

Latin—Second Year Latin; Roman History and Viri Romæ; Nepos' Lives; Bennett's Grammar; Cæsar. Three Terms.

Pedagogy—(White). Fall Term.

Mathematics—Plane Geometry (Wentworth). Three Terms.

English—History of English Literature; Study of Authors; Themes. Three Terms.

Physics—(Henderson and Woodhull). Winter and Spring Terms.

FOURTH YEAR

Psychology—Winter and Spring Terms.

Elementary Chemistry—(Oswald and Morse.) Fall Term.

Latin—Cicero's Orations (Bennett.) Vergil; Composition, Mythology. Three Terms.

Greek—Elements (Ball). Three Terms.

or English—Study of Masterpieces. Advanced Composition; Review of Grammar. Three Terms.

Review of Arithmetic—Winter Term.

Agriculture—Spring Term.

English History—(Montgomery). Fall Term.

A daily recitation in Bible is required throughout the course.

GRAMMAR AND TRAINING SCHOOL DEPARTMENTS.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.

Ida Woods, Principal Grammar School.

E. Isabel Kerr, Principal Training School and Critic Teacher.

Mrs. Lillie C. Cansler, Primary Department.

Carrie Henderson, Music and Drawing.

Margaret F. Anderson, Teacher in Intermediate.

Anna Weir, Sewing.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the best public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Vera R. Barber, Director.

The aim is to produce broad-minded, thinking students, to give an adequate amount of time and attention to the technical as well as to the emotional side of the student's nature and to throw such influence about him as will be conducive to the growth of a musical and appreciative mind.

The department offers courses in Piano, Voice and Theory.

Pupils entering with graduation in view should inform the director of their intention at once, that their work may be arranged in such a manner as to avoid conflicts.

Piano Forte

1.—Technical exercises which are intended to give control of the muscles of the fingers, hands and arms, making them responsive to the will. Study in the use of the pedals.

2.—Studies by the best teachers and composers, designed to give further development to the executive power, etc.

3.—Compositions of merit by the best writers for esthetic development; application of the principles of pedaling.

Voice

1.—Technics, consisting of exercises that promote the proper use and development of the mouth, throat and breathing organs.

2.—Studies for the application of the principles learned in Technics.

3.—Songs embodying the principles learned in Technics and studies of Expression.

Theory.

Harmony, the study of chords, their formation and combination, part writing, etc.

Musical History—the study of ancient and primitive music, church music, instrumental music, opera, lives of great masters, etc.

DEPARTMENTS

The time required for completing any course depends entirely upon the ability of the student and the progress made. The courses in Piano and Voice are divided into Preparatory, Intermediate and Advanced departments, and students are classified in the lower department until they have qualified for the next higher.

Preparatory Department. Before leaving this department the student must have passed an examination in the rudiments of music with a grade of not less than 80 and must have appeared in public recital.

Piano pupils must be able to play major scales in similar motion, four notes at 96 m. m.

Voice pupils must be able to sing scales in runs, four notes at 60 m. m.

Intermediate Department. Before leaving this department the student must be able to pass an examination in the more advanced terms, abbreviations and signs used in music, with a grade of not less than 90, and must also appear in the closing recital of the department. Piano pupils must be able to play the major and minor scales (in similar and contrary motion) four notes at 120 m. m., major and minor arpeggios, four notes at 80 m. m., scales in octaves, four notes at 48 m. m. Voice pupils must be able to sing in scale runs, four notes at 80 m. m., trills, four notes at 100 m. m., arpeggios, three notes at 60 m. m.

Advanced Department. Students in this department will continue their piano or voice until a satisfactory degree of proficiency is attained.

One year of Harmony and one year of Musical History are required for graduation.

Before graduation students must prepare and give a recital at some time during the spring term of the Senior year.

Public School Music

Public school music is required throughout the grades, and is taught without extra charge.

Recitals

Class Recitals at which only students may be present, are held by the Director frequently. Public Recitals are held at which students sufficiently advanced are required to appear and to which the public is invited.

College Chorus

The College Chorus is under the management of the Director and meets weekly for the study of the greater vocal works. Work is carried on through nearly the entire year. There is no extra charge. The Chorus appears in concert during Commencement week.

Tuition

Piano—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	$4.00
Voice—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	4.00

Harmony—per term.....	1.00
Musical History—per term.....	0.50
Piano rent—one hour daily—per term.....	1.00

Lessons missed will not be made up except in case of illness.

All practice is under the supervision of the Director.

Visiting in practice rooms is not allowed.

Special students in music will take two lessons per week, when the charges will be double what they are for one lesson per week.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Miss Margaret Alter, Superintendent.

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with skylight, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and states.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College, together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Knoxville College has from its founding devoted much attention to training in the more important manual arts. Of late years this department has been developed to its present high degree of efficiency. Regular courses are offered in some trades, while in others such practical work is done as will give the pupil a good working knowledge of the trade. Through this department opportunity for self-help is offered industrious students, habits of thrift are cultivated, a symmetrical development is obtained and healthful ideas of physical labor are inculcated.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one branch of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical Work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, and incidently a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The College grounds consist of 75 acres. The College owns a farm of 90 acres a few miles away, making in all 165 acres in charge of this department. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the student training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and the Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

Students wishing to make a specialty of Agriculture may substitute for the three years work in Latin of the Normal Course three years work in the various lines of Agricultural study usually embraced in a course in Agriculture.

A well equipped dairy with a large barn, with basement, cow stable, silo, creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged greenhouse affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The Industrial Building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Carpentry is taught chiefly by practical construction work that is carried on by the College. Residences are erected in addition to the buildings that are added to the College plant so that a building each year has been erected by the students and thus they are given the most practical training.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improvements, has been installed for the heavier work, such as catalogues, halftones and booklets, while a job press prints programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. In addition to the printing of the College publications and job work, outside job work is done.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building and hospital were erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Broom Making.—The industry of broom making has been found to meet the demands of many desiring to learn a trade. A ready market is found for all the brooms manufactured, which average about 1200 a month.

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSEHOLD ARTS.

Mary J. Fisher, Teacher of Dressmaking, Drafting and Ladies' Tailoring.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Sewing.

Marion Hamlen, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Margaret Beveridge, Superintendent of Young Women's Department.

Margaret McDill, Matron McDill Home.

Mae Beveridge, Superintendent Boarding Department.

The young women and girls are given daily training in every thing that pertains to the proper care of their rooms and the proper management of the house. The cooking for the boarding department is done by the students. Competent matrons and superintendents so direct the daily life that it becomes a constant cultural and helpful home training. In addition to this regular courses are given, Domestic Science, Sewing and Dressmaking.

Dress Making.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

A certificate is given to those who complete the course and are as far advanced in the Literary Department as through the Grammar School Course.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate Departments. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training

All students in the Eighth Grade and the Third Year Normal are required to take this work, each student having two recitations in theory and one assignment for practical work each week.

Those entering the department as special students are assigned additional practical work in addition to their theory.

A certificate is given to all students who have completed a three years course and are as far advanced in their literary studies as through the Grammar Department.

NECESSARY EXPENSES

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man and woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

The following list includes the various items furnished by the institution, but it does not include such items as laundry, books and general expenses of a miscellaneous character, all of which are more or less determined by the student himself.

Tuition, per term of twelve weeks paid at opening of Term:

Training School.....	$2.50
Grammar School.....	3.00
Normal and Preparatory.....	5.00
College.....	5.00
Room rent, Heat and Light, per term of 12 weeks.....	6.00
Boarding, per month of four weeks, if paid in advance.....	6.00
Boarding per month, if not paid in advance...	6.50
Room Deposit, to be refunded at end of year if room and furnishings are in proper order	1.00
Laboratory fee, College Chemistry and Biology	1.00
Laboratory fee, Normal and preparatory Chemistry and Biology.....	.25
Permit for use of laundry including hot water for washing and fuel for ironing, per term	.50
Diploma, College.....	2.00
Diploma, Normal	1.00
Certificates, for those who have completed courses which do not entitle them to diplomas50

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 34.

Four weeks constitute a school month.

Five or six dollars will be required for books, postage, and stationery.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those who do their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the tuition, room rent and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or, its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged at the rate of fifty cents an examination. There is no charge, however, for entrance examinations or those taken in connection with the regular class.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft, or registered letter. Money orders, checks, or drafts, should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

For boarding students the expenses for a term of 12 weeks including tuition, room rent, and boarding, for those in the Training School are $26.50. for the Grammar School, $27.00 for the Normal and College. $29.00. Most parents and guardians will find it most convenient to remit for the entire term at once.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—Knoxville College is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elect the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The College is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first Principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1870. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a College under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 80,000. About one-seventh of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprises of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

All these things combine to make the location an ideal one for an educational institution.

Grounds and Buildings.—The College property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, besides residences for the faculty, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty one by forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains twenty rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

On the Third floor are located the Literary Society halls, the Music Studio and four music practice rooms.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet, with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of the late Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with toilet, hot and cold water on each floor. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building with two stories gives ample opportunity for open air exercises without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the domestic Science Department, on the second and third floors for teachers' rooms.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected exactly what they cost, the woolen suits will cost not more than $7.00 each and the cotton suits not more than $1.75 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new woolen uniform for church, street and social wear; and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls, and cost about $1.40 each. A regular uniform hat is used for all below the Normal, and costs about seventy-five cents.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

The Collegiate and Normal women graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of approved material (bought and sold at wholesale) as a final test of their own handiwork. The under-graduates will be allowed to make a waist of the same material to be worn with the serge uniform skirt during commencement exercises.

Boarding Halls.—Three boarding halls, two for girls and one large one for boys provide for the boarding students. A competent matron has charge of each hall. Boys are not received younger than 15 years of age.

Girls as young as 12 are received in the McDill Home and those over 16 are assigned to the young women's hall.

Each of these halls is fitted up with a well equipped laundry, with stationary tubs, and hot and cold water. Each hall has its own bathrooms and toilets, and all the buildings are lighted with electricity and heated with steam heat.

The older students have separate rooms for two or three in a room, but the McDill Home has a large study hall and a dormitory in which each girl has her own single bed.

Literary Societies.—Five vigorous literary societies, one for the College Department, two for the young men in the Normal and Preparatory, and two for young women in the Normal and Preparatory, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men and College on Monday night. Three well furnished and attractive halls in the Main College Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings, including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

The Library.—The Carnegie Library affords first-class library and reading room privileges to the students without charge. The large reading room on the main floor of the Library is supplied with all the leading magazines, and students spend their vacant periods in this room where they may use the periodicals or library books or study as they prefer. The library contains over 4,000 volumes.

Publications.—The Aurora, a monthly paper devoted to College interests, is published by the faculty and students of the College. The subscription price is 25 cents per year.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the College and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—The young men have a spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet under the Chapel and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in outdoor athletics careful provision is made for the health of and the development of sturdy strength.

The young women have in their own hall a good gymnasium where they are given healthful exercises. Basket ball, tennis and other open air games are much used in favorable weather.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at Church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

In the Fourth Normal year a course is given in Bible Teacher Training, intended to equip students for organizing and conducting Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes.

In the College classes the classical students study the New Testament in the Original, while others pursue courses in the English Bible or Church History.

Volunteer Bible Study and Mission Study classes are conducted by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

All students on entering sign the following statement and pledge: "I have examined the regulations of Knoxville

College and as far as I know them I believe them to be right, and hereby promise to conform to them while I remain a student of the institution."

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning, which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents or guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all times to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the grounds on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Students intending to enter the College should fill out and return the application blank five years ago. The building includes, besides ample provision for library and reading rooms, sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

The McMillan Memorial Chapel.—Through the generosity of the Second United Presbyterian Church, North Side, Pittsburg, Pa., the money was provided for the splendid chapel which stands at the entrance to the college grounds. This money was given as a memorial to their late pastor, Rev. W. H. McMillan, D. D., who had not only served as their pastor but had been President of the Board of Freedmen's Missions for twenty two years. The building is a model of college architecture and convenience. It is of Doric Greek style and is capable of seating seven hundred people. It is the product of student labor through the Industrial Department.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the mechanical trades. The Elementary Wood Work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Broom Making, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and their families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well arranged Agricultural Building. This building was erected by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valuable testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skilled attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery, hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding and room rent see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 per month, in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department. A charge of 15 cents per meal is made for meals taken in the dining room.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they may be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, combs, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow cases will be sold at cost of material and making. In the McDill Home the bed linen is provided; but the girls are requested to bring along blankets instead of sheets.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt and four cotton waists and two untrimmed white waists. The woolen suits are made of navy blue serge and consist of plain gored skirt and shirt waist. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use the same for every day wear. Any additional waists must be made in uniform style of the approved goods.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As all goods are bought at wholesale rates, and sold at found in the catalogue. A certificate should always be obtained from the school last attended showing that the student left in good standing, except when he was graduated, in which case the diploma will be sufficient. Those who are candidates for advanced classes would do well to secure from the school they have been attending a full record of their grades, showing subjects studied, how long each one was pursued, and the grade received in each subject.

The requirements for admission to each course are set forth in the description of the courses.

The College is readily reached by taking the Lonsdale car at the Southern Depot and the Church and Euclid car at the Louisville and Nashville depot, and leaving the car at Clinton Street, when there will be but a short walk to the College.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the College safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanagable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the daily and examination grades, the former counting two-thirds and the latter one-third. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Music Courses, receive diplomas and those who complete the course in dressmaking, domestic science and the trades receive a certificate.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. A limited number of young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

Labor credits are not payable in cash, but are held in trust to meet future College bills. In case of a student leaving school with such credits they are subject to discount in settlement.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses, no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes toward his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one-fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years, amounting in the full total to $87.00.

Student's Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the College property.

Prizes and Contests—Through the generosity of the late Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, prizes are offered as follows:

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

The Prescott Reading Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to three students in the Grammar Department making the greatest progress in reading during the year.

The Prescott Bible Reading and Bible Essay Contest prize, consisting of $15, is divided between those students ranking first in rendering selections of Scripture or preparing original essays on Bible subjects.

The Alumni scholarship prize of $10, is awarded to that student in the College department whose scholarship ranks highest for the year.

A triangular intercollegiate contest debate is held annually with Talladega College and Atlanta Baptist College. Four contestants are chosen by each institution, two constituting the team to uphold the affirmative of the question at the home college and the other two the negative at one of the other institutions. The same question is debated on the same date at the three Colleges.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in the supply department of the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Anyone knowing a young man or woman who ought to attend may send a postal card with the name and post office address to the President of the college.

Lectures.—Frequent lectures are given in connection with the chapel exercises or in connection with the regular lecture course at night. Among those who have spoken from the College platform the past year are the following: Rev. Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, Dr. W. T. Vernon, Pres. F. C. Southworth, D. D., Hon. G. W. Murray, Miss E. Azalia Hackley, Rev. John T. Arter, Rev. J. S. Lyons, D. D., Rev.

J. B. Work, D. D., Rev. J. W. Witherspoon, D. D., Pres. G. R. Hovey, D. D., Dr. E. C. Silsley, Rev. W. C. Wallace, Rev. W. R. Wilson, Dr. George E. Haynes, Rev. George O. Bachman, D. D., Sec. W. A. Hunton, Rev. George R. Stuart, D. D. Miss Beulah McNemar, State Supt. Dr. Saml. H. Thompson, Rev. Norman H. Camp.

Need of Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance of the enlarging influence of the institution. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the College buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Freedmen's Missions of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

DEPARTMENTS

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President, Professor of Homiletics.

Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature.

Frank P. Hiner, A. B., Life of Christ, Theology.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

First Year

Throughout the Year.—Hebrew or Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

First and Second Terms.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

Third Term.—Sacred Rhetoric.

Second Year

Throughout the Year.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Systematic Theology.

First and Second Terms.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

Third Term.—The Life of Our Lord.

Third Year

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the College and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History. Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government, as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcome to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President, Moral Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Dean of College, Greek and Latin.

Rosannah B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Mathematics and the physical sciences.

H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, English.

Howard Wallace, B. S., Chemistry, German and Agriculture.

Frank Phillip Hiner, A. B., Psychology, Sociology, History of Philosophy, Constitutional Government.

Attendance during the Senior year is required to receive a diploma.

Admission to the Freshman Class requires the satisfactory completion of the subjects of a standard high school course extending through the Twelfth Grade, representing 15 units.

"A unit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work". This definition "assumes that the length of the school year is from thirty-six to forty weeks, that a period is from forty to sixty minutes in length, and that the study is pursued four or five periods per week." It further assumes that "two hours of manual training or laboratory work is equivalent to one hour [or period] of class room work"; the quantity of work to be done in the unit of time shall be substantially that described in the Carnegie valuation outline in the first annual report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching published in 1906.

Graduates of the Normal Course of Knoxville College are received into the Freshman Class, provided they have selected from the elective studies such as will prepare them for entering one of the college courses. Graduation from the Preparatory course of the college enrolls in the Freshman class.

In the College Department there are two regular courses of four years each offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, (A. B.) and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B.S.)

DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—R. W. McGranahan, . D., President.

Rosannah B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Principal Normal Department, Science and Mathematics.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and Latin.

H. J. Bell, B. D., History and Civics.

Anna Belle Ferrier, English.

Matilda Wishart, B. S., Mathematics.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Chemistry and Agriculture.

Frank Philip Hiner, A. B., Psychology, Pedagogy, Child Study.

E. Isabel Kerr, Teacher Training, Critic Teacher.

Mary J. Fisher, Dressmaking.

Marion Hamlen, Domestic Science.

Carrie Henderson, Elocution.

The Normal Course provides the equivalent of a first class high school course extending through the Twelfth Grade. In addition to the studies of the High School it requires a course in pedagogy, a course in elementary psychology and child study and one year of practice teaching under the critic teacher, together with an elective course in the history and science of Education, Methods, etc.

The College Preparatory Course is the same as the Normal except that the features distinctly pedagogical, as the study of pedagogy and practice teaching, are not required. The advantage, however, of having these features is so evident that the pursuit of the Normal Course is recommended to those whose purpose it is to pursue the College Course as well as those who simply wish to prepare for teaching in the common schools.

The substitution of Agriculture for Latin is allowed to those who wish to make a specialty of Agricultural study and work.

Provision is made for a thorough review of the common branches.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth grades.

Theresa Ulrica Liggitt, B. S., Music.

Anna Rose Kingan, Instructor in Drawing and Language.

Anna Wier, Sewing.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the best public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the Training school.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Vera R. Barber, Director.

Theresa Ulrica Liggitt, Assistant

The aim is to produce broad-minded, thinking students, to give an adequate amount of time and attention to the technical as well as to the emotional side of the student's nature and to throw such influence about him as will be conducive to the growth of a musical and appreciative mind.

The department offers courses in Piano, Voice and Theory.

Pupils entering with graduation in view should inform the director of their intention at once, that their work may be arranged in such a manner as to avoid conflicts.

Piano Forte

1.—Technical exercises which are intended to give control of the muscles of the fingers, hands and arms, making them responsive to the will. Study in the use of the pedals.

2.—Studies by the best teachers and composers, designed to give further development to the executive power, etc.

3.—Compositions of merit by the best writers for esthetic development; application of the principles of pedaling.

Voice

1.—Technics, consisting of exercises that promote the proper use and development of the mouth, throat and breathing organs.

2.—Studies for the application of the principles learned in Technics.

3.—Songs embodying the principles learned in Technics and studies of Expression.

Theory.

Harmony, the study of chords, their formation and combination, part writing, etc.

Musical History—the study of ancient and primitive music, church music, instrumental music, opera, lives of great masters, etc.

DEPARTMENTS

The time required for completing any course depends entirely upon the ability of the student and the progress made. The courses in Piano and Voice are divided into Preparatory, Intermediate and Advanced departments, and students are classified in the lower department until they have qualified for the next higher.

Preparatory Department. Before leaving this department the student must have passed an examination in the rudiments of music with a grade of not less than 80 and must have appeared in public recital.

Piano pupils must be able to play major scales in similar motion, four notes at 96 m. m.

Voice pupils must be able to sing scales in runs, four notes at 60 m. m.

Intermediate Department. Before leaving this department the student must be able to pass an examination in the more advanced terms, abbreviations and signs used in music, with a grade of not less than 90, and must also appear in the closing recital of the department. Piano pupils must be able to play the major and minor scales (in similar and contrary motion) four notes at 120 m. m., major and minor arpeggios, four notes at 80 m. m., scales in octaves, four notes at 48 m. m. Voice pupils must be able to sing in scale runs, four notes at 80 m. m., trills, four notes at 100 m. m., arpeggios, three notes at 60 m. m.

Advanced Department. Students in this department will continue their piano or voice until a satisfactory degree of proficiency is attained.

One year of Harmony and one year of Musical History are required for graduation.

Before graduation students must prepare and give a recital at some time during the spring term of the Senior year.

Public School Music

Public school music is required throughout the grades, and is taught without extra charge.

Recitals

Class Recitals at which only students may be present, are held by the Director frequently. Public Recitals are held at which students sufficiently advanced are required to appear and to which the public is invited.

Coleridge Taylor Choral Club

The Coleridge Taylor Club is under the management of the Director and meets weekly for the study of the greater vocal works. Work is carried on through the entire year. There is no extra charge. Three concerts are given each year.

Tuition

Piano—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	$4.00
Voice—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	4.00
Harmony—per term.....	1.00
Musical History—per term.....	0.50
Piano rent—one hour daily—per term.....	1.00

Lessons missed will not be made up except in case of illness.

All practice is under the supervision of the Director.

Visiting in practice rooms is not allowed.

Special students in music will take two lessons per week, when the charges will be double what they are for one lesson per week.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Mary White, R. N., Superintendent.

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with skylight, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and states.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College, together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Knoxville College has from its founding devoted much attention to training in the more important manual arts. Of late years this department has been developed to its present high degree of efficiency. Regular courses are offered in some trades, while in others such practical work is done as will give the pupil a good working knowledge of the trade. Through this department opportunity for self-help is offered industrious students, habits of thrift are cultivated, a symmetrical development is obtained and healthful ideas of physical labor are inculcated.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one branch of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical Work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, and incidently a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The College grounds consist of 75 acres. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the student training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and the Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

Students wishing to make a specialty of Agriculture may substitute for the three years work in Latin of the Normal Course three years work in the various lines of Agricultural study usually embraced in a course in Agriculture.

A new modern dairy barn has recently been erected. This barn will house 24 cows and is equipped with the latest improvements, among which are cement floor, sanitary iron stantions, manure carrier, milk room, two large silos, and large feeding shed attached.

The creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged greenhouse affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The Industrial Building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Carpenry is taught chiefly by practical construction work that is carried on by the College. Residences are erected in addition to the buildings that are added to the College plant so that a building each year has been erected by the students and thus they are given the most practical training.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improvements, has been installed for the heavier work, such as catalogues, halftones and booklets, while a job press prints programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. In addition to the printing of the College publications and job work, outside job work is done.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building and hospital were erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Broom Making.—The industry of broom making has been found to meet the demands of many desiring to learn a trade. A ready market is found for all the brooms manufactured, which average about 1200 a month.

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSEHOLD ARTS.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Sewing.

Marion Hamlen, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Margaret Beveridge, Superintendent of Young Women's Department.

Margaret McDill, Matron McDill Home.

Mae Beveridge, Superintendent Boarding Department.

The young women and girls are given daily training in every thing that pertains to the proper care of their rooms and the proper management of the house. The cooking for the boarding department is done by the students. Competent matrons and superintendents so direct the daily life that it becomes a constant cultural and helpful home training. In addition to this regular courses are given, Domestic Science, Sewing and Dressmaking.

Dress Making.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

A certificate is given to those who complete the course and are as far advanced in the Literary Department as through the Grammar School Course.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Eighth Year Training inclusive. Lessons in Dressmaking are given daily to all the girls in the Normal and Collegiate Departments. Pupils in classes below the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training

All students in the Eighth Grade and the Third Year Normal are required to take this work, each student having two recitations in theory and one assignment for practical work each week.

Those entering the department as special students are assigned additional practical work in addition to their theory.

A certificate is given to all students who have completed a three years course and are as far advanced in their literary studies as through the Grammar Department.

NECESSARY EXPENSES

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man and woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

The following list includes the various items furnished by the institution, but it does not include such items as laundry, books and general expenses of a miscellaneous character, all of which are more or less determined by the student himself.

Tuition, per term of twelve weeks paid at opening of term:

Training School	$2.50
Grammar School.....	3.00
Normal and Preparatory.....	5.00
College.....	5.00
Room rent, Heat and Light, per term of 12 weeks.....	6.00
Boarding, per month of four weeks, if paid in advance.....	6.00
Boarding per month, if not paid in advance.....	6.50
Room Deposit, to be refunded at end of year if room and furnishings are in proper order	1.00
Laboratory fee, College Chemistry and Biology	1.00
Laboratory fee, Normal and preparatory Chemistry and Biology.....	.25
Permit for use of laundry including hot water for washing and fuel for ironing, per term	.50
Diploma, College.....	2.00
Diploma, Normal.....	1.00
Certificates, for those who have completed courses which do not entitle them to diplomas.....	.50
Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see page 35.

Four weeks constitute a school month.

Five or six dollars will be required for books, postage and stationery.

Students have the privilege of doing their own laundering but those wishing may have it done in the general laundry at a reasonable price.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10. to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those doing their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the tuition, room rent and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or, its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

- Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged at the rate of fifty cents an examination. There is no charge, however, for entrance examinations or those taken in connection with the regular class.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

Before leaving due notice should be given and all accounts settled. No student is entitled to honorable dismissal whose accounts are not fully settled.

ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT LEAST MONTHLY IN ADVANCE, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft, or registered letter. Money orders, checks, or drafts, should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

The establishment of a Sub-Station of the Knoxville Post Office at the College is a great convenience in the receiving and sending of money, as well as in obtaining all post office supplies.

For boarding students the expenses for a term of 12 weeks including tuition, room rent, and boarding, for those in the Training School are $26.50, for the Grammar School, $27.00 for the Normal and College, $29.00. Most parents and guardians will find it most convenient to remit for the entire term at once.

KNOXVILLE COLLEGE

Organization.—Knoxville College is the leading educational institution of the United Presbyterian Church for Negro youth, and is sustained by contributions from the various congregations through the Board of Missions to the Freedmen. The General Assembly elect the Board and they elect the Faculty and have entire supervision of the College.

The College is chartered under the laws of Tennessee and is duly authorized to transact business and confer degrees.

Aim.—The purpose of the College is to provide the most thorough literary, classical and scientific training, together with instruction in the most useful of the manual arts—in short, to so train head and hand and heart as to prepare young men and women for the largest usefulness in life. Through the liberality of the church these advantages are offered at only a fraction of the actual cost, so that no worthy young man or woman need be deprived of the benefits of the best education.

History.—The United Presbyterian Church was one of the earliest and most persistent champions of the cause of freedom for the Negro. It was the pioneer among the churches in taking up his cause. Fittingly, before the smoke of battle cleared away, it put forth one of the first efforts to give him a suitable education in establishing the “McKee School” in Nashville, so-called from its first Principal, Rev. Joseph G. McKee, and maintained very successfully till 1870. Other schools were founded and maintained in various parts of the South. In 1872, after a careful survey of the whole field, Knoxville was selected as the place for a Normal School and College, with the design of concentrating effort upon it. Rev. J. P. Wright was chosen Superintendent of the school, which opened in September 1875, in East Knoxville, but was removed to the present location the next year when it was established as a College under the name which it now bears. Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., was elected President in 1877, and he continued in that office till July, 1899.

Departments.—The following departments are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Normal, Theological, Musical, Mechanical, Agricultural, Domestic Science, Nurse Training and Common School.

Location.—The buildings and grounds are located just west of the corporation line of the city of Knoxville, Tenn. The campus is sufficiently elevated to give a commanding view of the city, has natural drainage on all sides, is beautifully shaded with oak, maple and cedar trees—all these making it a most beautiful and healthful place. Even in mid summer it affords a delightful retreat.

Knoxville is the chief city and commercial and manufacturing center of East Tennessee. The city with its suburbs has a population of almost or quite 80,000. About one-seventh of the population is colored. It is on the great thoroughfares between the North and the South of our country. It is easy of access and is favored with a remarkably healthful climate. The city has vigorous and healthy churches of colored people, and in addition a public sentiment largely in favor of equal rights, politically, to all. It is in the heart of the section which has been noted for its contribution to the Union army in the civil war, and has been developing of late years in a remarkable degree in all lines. The commercial enterprises of the city and community make it possible for students desiring work to secure it.

All these things combine to make the location an ideal one for an educational institution.

Grounds and Buildings.—The College property, consisting of seventy-five acres, on which stand ten buildings, besides residences for the faculty, is valued at $175,000. About ten acres of this is set apart for the campus, affording ample room for artistic and recreation purposes.

The Recitation Hall is one hundred and nineteen feet long and seventy-five feet wide, with an extension sixty one by forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains twenty rooms, besides a chapel capable of seating six hundred.

On the Third floor are located the Literary Society halls, the Music Studio and four music practice rooms.

McCulloch Hall.—The young men's dormitory is an L, one front being ninety and the other seventy-five feet, with a depth of forty-three feet. It is three stories high and contains fifty rooms in addition to laundry, barber shop and bath rooms. It is called "McCulloch Hall" in honor of the late Rev. J. S. McCulloch, D. D., under whose administration it was erected.

Elnathan Hall.—The young ladies' dormitory is a four-story building with sleeping and study rooms for one hundred persons, and kitchen and dining room accommodations for three hundred. It contains a laundry in which the young ladies do their own washing and ironing. They also have bath rooms, with toilet, hot and cold water on each floor. A veranda extending more than 100 feet around the building with two stories gives ample opportunity for open air exercises without undue exposure.

McDill Home.—The home for girls under sixteen years of age has accommodations for fifty, providing sleeping rooms, study room, dining room, bath room and kitchen.

Wallace Hall affords ample and commodious accommodations on the first floor for the domestic Science Department, on the second and third floors for teachers' rooms.

Carnegie Library Building.—Through the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie of $10,000 a library building was erected five years ago. The building includes, besides ample provision for library and reading rooms, sufficient recitation rooms so that the college classes recite in this building. This building was erected entirely by student labor and is a practical demonstration of the training given students in industrial lines.

The MacMillan Memorial Chapel.—Through the generosity of the Second United Presbyterian Church, North Side, Pittsburg, Pa., the money was provided for the splendid chapel which stands at the entrance to the college grounds. This money was given as a memorial to their late pastor, Rev. W. H. McMillan, D. D., who had not only served as their pastor but had been President of the Board of Freedmen's Missions for twenty-two years. The building is a model of college architecture and convenience. It is of Doric Greek style and is capable of seating seven hundred people. It is the product of student labor through the Industrial Department.

Mechanical Building.—This building provides accommodations for the mechanical trades. The Elementary Wood Work, Carpentering, Wheelwrighting, Blacksmithing, Broom Making, Painting and Printing Departments are all located in this building. It also contains the dynamo which, run by students, supplies light for the entire plant.

Homes.—The President's residence and five cottages occupied by professors and their families, are also located on the grounds.

Agricultural Building.—In 1904 there was erected, of brick made by the college brickyard, a convenient and well by money given by the citizens of Knoxville, which is a most valuable testimony to the favor with which our neighbors look on our work.

Hospital.—The Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital is a two story brick building with basement. It affords most excellent opportunity for students in Nurse Training, as well as insures the best and most skilled attention to any students who may be sick.

Barns.—Two commodious barns, providing stables for horses and cows, hay and feed storage room, machinery, hall, and other conveniences add much to the equipment of the Agricultural Department.

Green House.—A well apportioned green house, steam heated, contains about 1600 square feet of usable surface which is utilized for raising winter vegetables and flowers.

Heating Plant and Steam Laundry.—All the buildings are heated from one central plant by means of steam pipes connecting under ground. The Steam Laundry, equipped with engine, steam washer, extractor, dryer, etc., occupies the upper story of this building.

Boarding.—A school month is four weeks.

For rates of boarding and room rent see "Necessary Expenses."

No allowance will be made for absence for less than 4 days.

Boarding must be paid in advance.

All students away from home are required to board in the institution unless special permission is granted to board elsewhere.

One hour a day of work, or its equivalent in money, is required of each student. In this way all the work of the institution is done by the students, and boarding is kept at a lower rate than would be possible otherwise.

Students who prefer to do so may pay the equivalent of the hour's work, $2.25 per month, in addition to the regular boarding and be relieved of the hour's work each day.

Boarders having friends visiting with them must arrange for the boarding of their guests with the Superintendent of the Boarding Department. A charge of 15 cents per meal is made for meals taken in the dining room.

The Boarding Department is closed during the summer vacation. Assistance will be given students from a distance in finding suitable boarding houses in the community, if they wish to remain during the summer.

In case of failing health, or any other good reason requiring a student to leave school, the board money unused will be refunded.

Parents and guardians may place their daughters and wards under our care, with the assurance that they will be as safe as the most faithful oversight can render them. Permits to visit the city are sparingly granted, and at night never without safe escort. Absence on Sabbath is not allowed.

Sweet cakes, pastry, and confectionery eaten at irregular hours are often injurious to health. Hence, packages of these articles should not be sent. If sent, they may be placed on the tables at regular meals. The money required to send them can be much better used in other ways.

Students will be required to pay for damages to furniture or building when they are known to result from their own individual carelessness or neglect.

What to Bring Along.—The rooms are furnished with wardrobe, dresser, table, washstand, chairs and bed with mattress, quilts, and pillows, but each boarder is required to bring along the bed linen, which includes two sheets for a double bed and two pillow cases; also towels, brushes, combs, etc. For those who will find it inconvenient to bring the linen, sheets and pillow cases will be sold at cost of material and making. In the McDill Home the bed linen is provided; but the girls are requested to bring along blankets instead of sheets.

Laundry Privileges.—Each hall is provided with a good laundry where all students who wish to do so may do their own laundry work and thus save the expense of hiring it done. A charge of 50 cents a term is made for the use of these laundries, which includes the use of hot water, stationary tubs, fuel for ironing, etc. The girls in the McDill Home all do their own laundering and are thus taught a very important line of work. Young men and women desiring to hire their laundering done, may have it done in the college general laundry, where the charge is 25 cents a week for young men and 30 cents a week for young women. Girls have the opportunity of earning money in connection with the general laundry.

All clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name in indelible ink.

Uniform Dress.—In order to discourage extravagance, prevent undue attention to the subject of dress, and at the same time cultivate taste and neatness, a school uniform is required of all the young women in Elnathan Hall.

For the young women of Elnathan Hall it is required that each person shall be provided with at least one woolen skirt, four cotton waists, and two white waists, trimmed only at edge of neck and sleeves. The skirts are plain gored in style and made of navy blue serge. The shirt waists must be made of navy blue percale. Those having old uniforms will be required to use same for every day wear.

All goods must be purchased from and all uniforms made under the direction of the instructress in dressmaking.

As all goods are bought at wholesale and sold at cost, the serge skirts cost from $3 to $4 each and the cotton suits not less than $1.50 each.

Each succeeding year every girl should purchase a new serge skirt for church, street and social wear, and cotton suits or waists as needed. Oxford caps are used for Normal and College girls and cost $1.40 each. A regular uniform hat is used for all below the Normal and costs the same as the caps.

Mourning dresses made after the manner of the required uniforms may be worn for one year after death of a parent.

Each girl is required to provide herself with two gingham aprons to be used in doing industrial work.

The Normal women graduates will be required to make their own graduating dresses of approved material (bought and sold at wholesale), as a final test of their own handiwork.

The girls in the McDill Home, or those under 16 years of age, are not required to wear uniform. Any plain clothing will be allowed. Silk waists, light colored or fancy dresses and light colored underskirts are not permitted.

Boarding Halls.—Three boarding halls, two for girls and one large one for boys provide for the boarding students. A competent matron has charge of each hall. Boys are not received younger than 15 years of age.

Girls as young as 12 are received in the McDill Home and those over 16 are assigned to the young women's hall.

Each of these halls is fitted up with a well equipped laundry, with stationary tubs, and hot and cold water. Each hall has its own bathrooms and toilets, and all the buildings are lighted with electricity and heated with steam heat.

The older students have separate rooms for two or three in a room, but the McDill Home has a large study hall and a dormitory in which each girl has her own single bed.

Literary Societies.—Five vigorous literary societies, one for the College Department, two for the young men in the Normal and Preparatory, and two for young women in the Normal and Preparatory, are maintained. The young women meet on Friday afternoon and the young men and College on Monday night. Three well furnished and attractive halls in the Main College Building belong to the societies. The societies have themselves provided the furnishings, including carpet, seatings, curtains, and pianos.

All students in the College and Normal departments are required to belong to one of the societies. The advanced students of the Training School may, by permission of the faculty, connect with a literary society.

The Library.—The Carnegie Library affords first-class library and reading room privileges to the students without charge. The large reading room on the main floor of the Library is supplied with all the leading magazines, and students spend their vacant periods in this room where they may use the periodicals or library books or study as they prefer. The library contains over 4,000 volumes.

Publications.—The Aurora, a monthly paper devoted to College interests, is published by the faculty and students of the College. The subscription price is 25 cents per year.

The Knoxville College Bulletin is the official organ of the College and is published quarterly.

Gymnasium.—The young men have a spacious gymnasium forty by sixty feet under the Chapel and will be fitted up with suitable appliances. In this as well as in outdoor athletics careful provision is made for the health of and the development of sturdy strength.

The young women have in their own hall a good gymnasium where they are given healthful exercises. Basketball, tennis and other open air games are much used in favorable weather.

Visiting the College.—Visitors are always welcome during school hours to hear the classes recite and view the buildings and the regular work, but students are forbidden to receive or make social calls on the Sabbath. Strangers are most heartily invited to regular services, but they are not shown through the buildings on the Lord's day.

Religious Services.—The religious life of the student is carefully provided for. Daily chapel devotions are held at which all students are required to be present.

Attendance at Church and Sabbath School each Sabbath is required of all students.

A young People's Christian Union, a College Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Junior and Intermediate Unions are maintained by the students and are the means of greatly stimulating the spiritual life of the students and of leading souls to the Savior.

Students boarding in the department are required to attend the stated religious services in the college, and morning and evening worship in the dining room.

Bible Study.—A course of Bible study is arranged for the entire school and daily recitations are required throughout the year. In the lower classes Dr. J. B. Work's "Questions in Bible History" is used as a text-book.

In the Fourth Normal year a course is given in Bible Teacher Training, intended to equip students for organizing and conducting Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes.

In the College classes the classical students study the New Testament in the Original, while others pursue courses in the English Bible or Church History.

Volunteer Bible Study and Mission Study classes are conducted by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Government and General Regulations.—The government and discipline of the school have for their object the promotion of self-respect and self-government. Privileges are denied students only as their conduct makes it necessary. It is the aim that students shall learn to do right because it is right rather than from fear of punishment. To accomplish this end firmness is combined with kindness.

All students on entering sign the following statement and pledge: "I have examined the regulations of Knoxville College and as far as I know them I believe them to be right, and hereby promise to conform to them while I remain a student of the institution."

No student will be allowed to remain in the school whose character may be such as will corrupt others.

Neglect of duties, disobedience or unbecoming conduct leads to a plain warning, which, if unheeded, results in the speedy removal of the student from school.

Kind and courteous treatment of one another and respect to teachers is required of students.

Regular study hours must not be interrupted. Calls and visits made by students must be confined to recreation hours.

Students are admitted at any time on certificate or examination.

Students leaving without the consent of the faculty render themselves liable to discipline.

Students are not allowed to use tobacco in any form.

Reports are given to students at the end of each term and parents or guardians should insist on seeing them.

Every student is expected to have his own Bible and dictionary.

Rooms must be accessible at all times to members of the faculty, and occupants are held responsible for any disorder in their rooms.

Fire arms, in rooms or carried, are positively forbidden.

Students should avoid arriving on the Sabbath, and no baggage will be allowed to leave the grounds on that day.

Students in all departments are subject to the same regulations.

All students on entering for the first time must either bring a certificate from their home doctor, showing a recent successful vaccination, or be vaccinated at the college hospital on entering.

Entering the Institution.—Students intending to enter the College should fill out and return the application blank found in the catalogue. A certificate should always be obtained from the school last attended showing that the student left in good standing, except when he was graduated, in which case the diploma will be sufficient. Those who are candidates for advanced classes would do well to secure from the school they have been attending a full record of their grades, showing subjects studied, how long each one was pursued, and the grade received in each subject.

The requirements for admission to each course are set forth in the description of the courses.

The College is readily reached by taking the Lonsdale car at the Southern Depot and the Church and Euclid car at the Louisville and Nashville depot, and leaving the car at Clinton Street, when there will be but a short walk to the College.

If parents will send money directly to the president there will be less danger of unwise expenditure on the part of the students. Very little pocket money, in addition to the regular expenses, is required, and all who are away from home are advised to deposit with the president any money not needed immediately. Money can be deposited in the College safe and drawn upon as desired.

Don't fail to be present at the opening of the term. An absence for a few days at the beginning will be serious loss all through the year.

Parents or guardians will make a great mistake in sending away to school any one who is unmanagable at home. The College is not intended for such persons, but rather for those who, with an earnest purpose, desire to prepare for usefulness in life. The sending of incorrigibles almost always results with sorrow to all concerned.

Examinations.—Examinations are held at the close of each term and at such other times as the teacher may choose.

The required passing grade is 70, which is determined by averaging the daily and examination grades, the former counting two-thirds and the latter one-third. Each student's grade is kept for convenient reference and permanent use. A student who fails in any branch is required to bring it up within a year.

Degrees and Diplomas.—The following Degrees are conferred in course.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those who complete the Classical Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on those who complete the Scientific Course.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who complete the Course in Theology.

Graduates in the Normal and Music Courses, receive diplomas and those who complete the course in dressmaking, domestic science and the trades receive a certificate.

Facilities for Self-Support.—It is the aim of Knoxville College to put the best education within the reach of any young man or woman possessed of energy and average intellectual gifts.

The very low price at which rooms, boarding and tuition are furnished makes it possible for a really industrious student properly using all his vacations and working through the year to very nearly or quite earn his way.

In the Industrial Department students are paid for their work, the rate of pay depending on their skill. A limited number of young men are given employment during the summer vacation, their earnings being applied on the expenses of the next year.

Labor credits are not payable in cash, but are held in trust to meet future College bills. In case of a student leaving school with such credits they are subject to discount in settlement.

While every possible opportunity is given to students by which they may earn a part of their expenses, no one ought to count on earning a large part of them during term time, especially the first year. At Knoxville College prices for board, etc., what one can earn does much toward self-support.

The working student not only contributes toward his self-support but he cultivates a spirit of self-reliance and self-respect as well as an appreciation of the dignity of labor which are essential elements in true education and contribute much towards success in life.

The large manufacturing establishments in the city and coal mines near by afford additional opportunities for employment to those who wish it during the summer vacation.

Scholarships.—The faculty have provided for a scholarship to be given to the member of the Fourth Normal class who shall stand highest in his class and whose deportment shall have been creditable. This scholarship provides for one-fourth the cost of board and tuition each year for four years, amounting in the full total to $87.00.

Student's Fund.—Many persons desire to help worthy students. A student's fund is provided for in this way by which material is provided for them to use in making improvements on the grounds or they are paid by this fund for work on the campus. In this way the best sort of aid is given and much is added to the College property.

Prizes and Contests—Through the generosity of the late Rev. C. H. Prescott, of Cleveland, Ohio, prizes are offered as follows:

The Prescott Prize in sewing, consisting of $5, is divided among the three students in the Dressmaking Department who rank first in making a full uniform suit, under garment and piece of fancy work.

The Prescott Music Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to the three making the greatest progress in the vocal music classes during the year.

The Prescott Reading Prize, consisting of $5, is awarded to three students in the Grammar Department making the greatest progress in reading during the year.

The Prescott Bible Reading and Bible Essay Contest prize, consisting of $15, is divided between those students ranking first in rendering selections of Scripture or preparing original essays on Bible subjects.

The Alumni scholarship prize of $10, is awarded to that student in the College department whose scholarship ranks highest for the year.

A triangular intercollegiate contest debate is held annually with Talladega College and Atlanta Baptist College. Four contestants are chosen by each institution, two constituting the team to uphold the affirmative of the question at the home college and the other two the negative at one of the other institutions. The same question is debated on the same date at the three Colleges.

Book Department.—School books are bought and sold in the supply department of the college, thus affording students the opportunity both to sell their second-hand books and purchase the books required at best advantage. All necessary supplies are sold in the office. All books must be paid for when purchased.

Catalogues will be sent free to persons wishing information. Anyone knowing a young man or woman who ought to attend may send a postal card with the name and post office address to the President of the college.

Lectures.—Frequent lectures are given in connection with the chapel exercises or in connection with the regular lecture course of the school. The following is a partial list of those who have appeared on the college platform during the past year:

Prof. M. A. Honline, Rev. C. E. Clark, D. D., Rev. Geo. O. Bachman, D. D., Mrs. Eliza E. Peterson, Miss Pinyon, Rev. J. M. Richmond, D. D., Rev. J. B. Work, D. D., Rev. J. Renwick Millin, Dr. T. H. Kuwashima, Rev. S. Hall Young, D. D., Rev. G. W. Bovard, Prof. C. W. Cansler, Mrs. Broadus Anderson, Rev. W. I. Wishart, D. D., Prof. Robt. DeArmond, Rev. R. I. Gamon, D. D., Prof. Roy W. Tibbs, Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, Fred Hope, Rev. Maitland Alexander, D. D., Rev. E. M. Seymour, Rev. W. A. Jones, Rev. W. H. Mitchell.

Need of Endowment.—The coming of so many students from all the Southern, and some of the Northern and Western States, to Knoxville College gives assurance of the enlarging influence of the institution. The location is most excellent. The climate is noted for its healthfulness; the beautiful situation of the College buildings, the established reputation of the school, the thorough work done in all departments, together with the increasing efficiency as the work has enlarged, all demand that permanent provision be made for its support as soon as possible. It ought to be endowed to relieve the Freedmen's Mission Board of its support, that the money thus used might be used for opening up new work.

Where can money be invested that will yield greater returns in good accomplished than in endowing Knoxville College?

Form of Bequest.—I,, do give and bequeath to the Board of Freedmen's Missions of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, the sum of..... Dollars, (or all that lot of land situated, etc.)

DEPARTMENTS

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President, Professor of Homiletics.

Henry J. Bell, B. D., Professor of Old Testament Language and Literature, Church History.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Professor of New Testament Language and Literature.

Frank P. Hiner, A. B., Life of Christ, Theology.

The primary purpose of this department is the preparation of ministers for pastoral work. While a classical course of literary culture is required for entrance in case of regular theological students, others are cordially invited to enter the regular classes for such parts of the course as ordinary English students can study profitably, especially English Bible. Some are doing so now; others are welcome.

Course of Study.—The following course of study is proposed for classical students only:

First Year

Throughout the Year.—Hebrew or Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Church History. (Special attention to History of Missions.)

First and Second Terms.—New Testament Introduction and Exegesis of the Gospels.

Third Term.—Sacred Rhetoric.

Second Year

Throughout the Year.—Old Testament Introduction and Exegesis, Systematic Theology.

First and Second Terms.—Exegesis of Epistles of Paul.

Third Term.—The Life of Our Lord.

Third Year

Systematic Theology Completed. Pastoral Theology and Church Standards. Exegesis of Prophecies, Job, Canticles, Acts of the Apostles and Epistle to the Hebrews. Rapid survey of Old Testament History and Institutions. Church Government. Analysis of passages throughout the course.

By a brief experience in the field ministers often learn at what points improvement may be made in their preparation for meeting present day conditions. We welcome all such to our classes in the College and theological course. Special work can thus be pursued in Psychology, Ethics, Church History. Homiletics, Systematic and Pastoral Theology and Church Government, as well as in the direct study of the Bible either in English or in the original languages. Happily new emphasis is being placed in our day on the teaching function of the church and the ministry. Provision will be made for advanced study in Biblical Pedagogy and Sabbath School work. Students may gain practical experience in the Sabbath Schools of the College and city. They are welcome to the weekly teachers' meeting. They have in the work and worship of the congregation an object lesson that can not fail to be useful in after years. Students completing the regular course in this department receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students in the Theological Department have access to the College Library and enjoy all the advantages of the College equipment.

The expenses in the Theological Department are the same as for the College Department. Students in this department are given the privilege of earning a part of their expenses in the Industrial Department.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

Knoxville College is a member of the Association of Colleges for Negro Youth and maintains the standards of that Association. Admission to the Freshman Class requires the satisfactory completion of the subjects of a standard secondary school course, representing at least 15 units.

"A unit represents a year's study in any subject of a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work." This definition "assumes that the length of the school year is from thirty-six to forty weeks, that a period of recitation extends from forty to sixty minutes in length, and that the study is pursued through four or five periods per week." It further assumes that "Two hours of manual training or laboratory work are equivalent to one hour (or period) of class room work."

Students are received from approved secondary schools without examination.

Graduates of the Normal or Preparatory Courses of Knoxville College are enrolled in the Freshman Class. Normal Graduates who have not elected subjects that are prerequisites for the course which they wish to pursue will be required to bring up the required work.

In the College Department there are two regular courses of four years each offered as follows: The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, (A. B.) and the Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B.S.)

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES.

ENGLISH.

The aim of the English Department is two-fold: to develop the power of self-expression and to cultivate an appreciation of good literature.

A. College Rhetoric and Themes. The study of principles is accompanied by extensive practice in theme writing, together with the study of choice selections of English prose. To develop self criticism themes are read and discussed in class. Freshman year. First semester. Three hours.

B. Argumentation. Practice in gathering material, preparing briefs, constructing arguments, debating, and criticising debates. Freshman year. Second semester. Three hours.

C. History of English Literature. A survey of the entire subject with lectures, reading of assigned authors, and reports. The object of the course is to show that English literature is the outgrowth or reflection of the life of the English nation. Sophomore year. Three hours.

D. Shakespeare. After a brief preliminary survey of the rise of the romantic drama, a careful study is made of six of Shakespeare's plays, with a more rapid reading of others, the selection being designed to show his chief characteristics as a dramatist and poet. Senior year. First semester. Three hours.

E. Poetry of the Nineteenth Century. A careful study is made of the romantic movement as represented by Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelly and Keats, and of the Victorian era as represented by Tennyson and Browning. Senior Year. Second semester.

MATHEMATICS, PHYSICS AND ASTRONOMY.

The aim of this department is to meet the demands for a liberal education and at the same time provide for the needs of those students who are preparing for professional courses.

Mathematics A—Solid Geometry. Four hours. First semester. Freshman year. This course includes work in conic sections.

Mathematics B—Trigonometry. First half of second semester. Freshman year. A course in principles, formulas and applications, including the theory and use of logarithms.

Mathematics C—Surveying. Four hours, not including field work. Last half second semester. Freshman year. A practical course in land surveying and triangulation including the use and care of instruments.

Mathematics D—College Algebra. A rapid review of elementary algebra with a thorough study of advanced work. Sophomore. Elective one semester.

Physics. Junior year. Three hours. First semester includes study of molar and molecular dynamics. Second semester, ether dynamics. Open only to those who have had one year of elements of physics and Freshman mathematics.

Astronomy. Senior year. Four hours. Second semester. A general course open only to those who have had Freshman Mathematics and Junior Physics. Text, Young.

SCIENCE.

Geology. Senior year. Four hours. First semester. A general view of Physiographic, structural and historical Geology.

The Human Body. A study of its structure, activities and the conditions of its healthy workings. Senior year. One semester. Four hours.

Chemistry. Junior. Five hours, including laboratory and text. First semester, a thorough study in text book and laboratory work of the acid formic elements with their properties and common unions. Second semester, qualitative inorganic analysis. A thorough study of the metallic or base forming elements, and their combinations. The bases or elements entering into the composition of twenty-five unknown solutions required to be worked out by each student. Also the determination of a few acid elements and a few common salts.

Biology. Sophomore. Three hours recitation. Two hours laboratory. Historical and research work by use of dissecting tools and compound microscopes. First semester zoology. Work in this subject is along comparative lines as to both the structure and junction of the various types animal life, and is greatly aided by a collection of specimens. Second semester, Botany. Most of the time is given to study of flowering plants as to morphology of the embryo and seedling and of the root, buds, stems and leaves. Some time also to systematic botany and to studies in the thallophytes bryophytes, pteridophytes and spermatophytes.

HIGH SCHOOL AND NORMAL COURSES.

Faculty—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.

Rosannah B. Marshall, A. B., A. M., Principal Normal Department, Science and Mathematics.

Herbert M. Telford, A. B., Greek and Latin.

Mary K. Marshall, A. B., History and Latin.

Howard L. Wallace, B. S., Chemistry and Agriculture.

Frank Philip Hiner, A. B., Psychology, Pedagogy, Child Study.

E. Isabel Kerr, Teacher Training, Critic Teacher.

Floy R. Foster, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Marion Hamlen, Domestic Science.

Carrie Henderson, Elocution.

The Normal Course provides the equivalent of a first class high school course extending through the Twelfth Grade. In addition to the studies of the High School it requires a course in pedagogy, a course in elementary psychology and child study and one year of practice teaching under the critic teacher.

The College Preparatory Course is the same as the Normal except that the features distinctly pedagogical, as the study of pedagogy and practice teaching, are not required. The advantage, however, of having these features is so evident that the pursuit of the Normal Course is recommended to those whose purpose it is to pursue the College Course as well as those who simply wish to prepare for teaching in the common schools.

The substitution of Agriculture for Latin is allowed to those who wish to make a specialty of Agricultural study and work.

Provision is made for a thorough review of the common branches.

A student who completes the Normal Course and in addition teaches one hour a day, satisfactorily, for one year in the Training School, under the direction of the principal of that department, will receive a diploma.

The requirements for admission to the Normal Course include the studies laid down in the Seventh and Eighth grades.

GRAMMAR AND TRAINING SCHOOL DEPARTMENTS.

Faculty.—Ralph W. McGranahan, D. D., President.

Ida Woods, Principal of Grammar Department.

E. Isabel Kerr, Principal of Training School and Critic Teacher.

Mrs. Lillie C. Cansler, Primary.

Carrie Henderson, Elocution and Teacher in Intermediate.

Louise Brehmer, Music.

Anna Rose Kingan, Instructor in Drawing and Language.

Anna Wier, Sewing.

The Grammar and Training Schools afford opportunity for those looking forward to taking a Normal or College course to obtain the most thorough preparation for it. Thoroughness and accuracy are insisted on in all classes from the Primary to the Eighth Grade.

The course includes the full eight grades of the best public schools and those who complete it are entered in the Normal Department.

Under the direction of the Critic Teacher, students of the advanced Normal classes teach in the lower classes of the training school.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Louise Brehmer, Assistant

The aim is to produce broad-minded, thinking students, to give an adequate amount of time and attention to the technical as well as to the emotional side of the student's nature and to throw such influence about him as will be conducive to the growth of a musical and appreciative mind.

The department offers courses in Piano, Voice and Theory.

Pupils entering with graduation in view should inform the director of their intention at once, that their work may be arranged in such a manner as to avoid conflicts.

Piano Forte

1.—Technical exercises which are intended to give control of the muscles of the fingers, hands and arms, making them responsive to the will. Study in the use of the pedals.

2.—Studies by the best teachers and composers, designed to give further development to the executive power, etc.

3.—Compositions of merit by the best writers for esthetic development; application of the principles of pedaling.

Voice

1.—Technics, consisting of exercises that promote the proper use and development of the mouth, throat and breathing organs.

2.—Studies for the application of the principles learned in Technics.

3.—Songs embodying the principles learned in Technics and studies of Expression.

Theory.

Harmony, the study of chords, their formation and combination, part writing, etc.

Musical History—the study of ancient and primitive music, church music, instrumental music, opera, lives of great masters, etc.

DEPARTMENTS

The time required for completing any course depends entirely upon the ability of the student and the progress made. The courses in Piano and Voice are divided into Preparatory, Intermediate and Advanced departments, and students are classified in the lower department until they have qualified for the next higher.

Preparatory Department. Before leaving this department the student must have passed an examination in the rudiments of music with a grade of not less than 80 and must have appeared in public recital.

Piano pupils must be able to play major scales in similar motion, four notes at 96 m. m.

Intermediate Department. Before leaving this department the student must be able to pass an examination in the more advanced terms, abbreviations and signs used in music, with a grade of not less than 90, and must also appear in the closing recital of the department. Piano pupils must be able to play the major and minor scales (in similar and contrary motion) four notes at 120 m. m., major and minor arpeggios, four notes at 80 m. m., scales in octaves, four notes at 48 m. m.

Advanced Department. Students in this department will continue their piano or voice until a satisfactory degree of proficiency is attained.

One year of Harmony and one year of Musical History are required for graduation.

Before graduation students must prepare and give a recital at some time during the spring term of the Senior year.

Public School Music

Public school music is required throughout the grades, and is taught without extra charge.

Recitals

Class Recitals at which only students may be present, are held by the Director frequently. Public Recitals are held at which students sufficiently advanced are required to appear and to which the public is invited.

COLERIDGE TAYLOR CHORAL CLUB.

The Coleridge Taylor Club is under the management of the Director and meets weekly for the study of the greater vocal works. Work is carried on through the entire year. There is no extra charge. Three concerts are given each year.

Tuition

Piano—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	$4.00
Voice—one lesson per week, 11 weeks.....	4.00
Harmony—per term.....	1.00
Musical History—per term.....	0.50
Piano rent—one hour daily—per term.....	1.00

Lessons missed will not be made up except in case of illness.

All practice is under the supervision of the Director. Visiting in practice rooms is not allowed.

Special students in music will take two lessons per week, when the charges will be double what they are for one lesson per week.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Mary White, R. N., Superintendent

Through the erection of the Eliza B. Wallace Memorial Hospital a Nurse Training Department was opened at Knoxville College in January, 1907.

The building was erected in memory of Eliza B. Wallace who gave her life to the work at Knoxville College and evidences of her wise, unselfish work are found not only at Knoxville, but all over the Southland.

The building is a two story brick, with basement kitchen and laundry. It is equipped with elevator and all the conveniences of a modern hospital. It is steam heated and lighted with electricity. The building contains an operating room with skylight, enameled walls and all equipment necessary for operations of all kinds, three bath rooms, a male and female ward with several private rooms. It is the only well equipped hospital for colored people within a radius of several hundred miles.

The purpose of the hospital is two-fold. The first is to prepare young colored women for nurse training in the most thorough and efficient manner possible. There is no opening for colored young women more promising both in remuneration for services and for opportunities for usefulness. Its second purpose is to take care of the sick and afflicted by affording the very best opportunity for both medical and surgical treatment. Students of Knoxville College, who need medical attention, are cared for in the hospital under the most favorable circumstances for speedy recovery and at small expense. Patients in need of operations or special treatment have come to the hospital not only from the surrounding community but from other counties and states.

Candidates for Nurse Training must be able to produce certificate of good moral character, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40, and must have had a literary education equivalent to the completing of the First Year Normal in Knoxville College.

The course of training for nurses extends through three years.

The course includes thorough instruction in the usual text books, which shall be selected by the Superintendent, together with hospital practice, as well as practice outside the hospital.

The hospital is supported partly by an appropriation from the John F. Slater fund, partly by charges to patients, and partly by the Board of Control of Knoxville College, together with donations from friends.

Information regarding the Nurse Training Department will be furnished on application to the President of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Knoxville College has from its founding devoted much attention to training in the more important manual arts. Of late years this department has been developed to its present high degree of efficiency. Regular courses are offered in some trades, while in others such practical work is done as will give the pupil a good working knowledge of the trade. Through this department opportunity for self-help is offered industrious students, habits of thrift are cultivated, a symmetrical development is obtained and healthful ideas of physical labor are inculcated.

Courses of Study.—Most students in the Industrial Department pursue their studies in connection with one branch of the literary courses of the institution, normal, scientific or classical. In this way a practical knowledge is gained that will be of great benefit or will be a beginning to the thorough mastery of the trade, while at the same time the literary work is carried on.

Departments.—The Industrial Departments include Agriculture, Carpentering, Printing, Sewing, Cooking, Electrical Work, Brick Making, Brick Laying, Baking, Broom Making, Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, and incidently a great deal connected with other trades.

Agricultural Department.—The College grounds consist of 75 acres. Small crops are raised for the most part, thus giving the student training in making the largest yield off a small acreage. Stock of various kinds is raised. With the aid of a foreman all the work on the farm is done by the students under the direction of the professor in charge.

All students in the First Year Normal and the Fourth Year Normal are required to take Agriculture as a special study. The text book work is supplemented by experiment and lecture.

A new modern dairy barn has recently been erected. This barn will house 24 cows and is equipped with the latest improvements, among which are cement floor, sanitary iron stantions, manure carrier, milk room, two large silos, and large feeding shed attached.

The creamery with separator and other apparatus affords opportunity for the thorough teaching of this important industry.

Students wishing to make a specialty of Agriculture may substitute for the three years work in Latin of the Normal Course three years work in the various lines of Agricultural study usually embraced in a course in Agriculture.

Instruction is given in poultry raising which is carried on by means of incubators and brooders.

A well arranged greenhouse affords facilities for winter vegetable raising and floriculture.

Mechanical Course.—The Industrial Building is equipped with a 25 horse-power engine, a dynamo capable of lighting 250 lamps of 16 candle power, a circular saw, lathes and work benches, with outfits of tools for work in wood. Carpentry is taught chiefly by practical construction work that is carried on by the College. Residences are erected in addition to the buildings that are added to the College plant so that a building each year has been erected by the students and thus they are given the most practical training.

Printing.—The facilities for becoming acquainted with the business of printing are good. A new press run by steam power, with latest improvements, has been installed for the heavier work, such as catalogues, halftones and booklets, while a job press prints programs, letter heads, bill heads, circulars, posters, etc., to meet the demands of trade. In addition to the printing of the College publications and job work, outside job work is done.

Blacksmithing and Wheelwrighting.—This department was opened in 1903, and has been steadily growing since that time. Thoroughly competent foremen are in charge of both the Wheelwrighting and Blacksmithing, and students are taught these important trades with great thoroughness. Vehicles of all kinds are made and the general repair work for the community is done in the shop. Three well arranged rooms are devoted to this trade and the shops are equipped with such machinery as will make the work most instructive to the students as well as facilitate the work. Three forges, band saw, planer, lathes, drills, circular saw, two engines and other machinery are used in this department.

Brick Making.—A brick yard is maintained in which the students desiring to remain during the summer may improve their vacation both in learning the trade and earning expenses for the next year.

Brick Laying.—This trade is taught chiefly during the summer vacation when the actual work of erecting buildings is done by the students. The Carnegie Building and hospital were erected entirely by student bricklayers, and many brick cottages have been erected in the same way.

Broom Making.—The industry of broom making has been found to meet the demands of many desiring to learn a trade. A ready market is found for all the brooms manufactured, which average about 1200 a month.

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSEHOLD ARTS.

Floy R. Foster, Teacher of Dressmaking.

Anna Weir, Teacher of Sewing.

Marion Hamlen, Teacher of Domestic Science.

Margaret Beveridge, Superintendent of Young Women's Department.

Margaret McDill, Matron McDill Home.

Mae Beveridge, Superintendent Boarding Department.

The young women and girls are given daily training in every thing that pertains to the proper care of their rooms and the proper management of the house. The cooking for the boarding department is done by the students. Competent matrons and superintendents so direct the daily life that it becomes a constant cultural and helpful home training.

In addition to this regular courses are given in Domestic Science, Sewing and Dressmaking.

Dress Making.—One large room is devoted exclusively to dressmaking. Opportunity is given to students to acquire skill in drafting, cutting and fitting, provided they have had sufficient practice in the use of the needle. Persons who are not students in the college may take lessons by paying the same tuition as in the literary department.

A certificate is given to those who complete the course and are as far advanced in the Literary Department as through the Grammar School Course.

Sewing.—Lessons are given daily in plain sewing to all the girls in classes from the Second Year Primary to the Seventh Year Training inclusive. Pupils in classes

1. DAIRY BARN
2. INTERIOR—DAIRY BARN
3. HOG PEN

DOMESTIC SCIENCE STUDENTS

above the Fourth Year Training are given models which include all the stitches used in plain sewing. These models follow one another in regular order. Pupils who have not yet passed from the models make articles which include only such stitches as they have already taken up in the models. The sewing machine is used after they have become familiar with the use of the needle. All the work is done under strict inspection, and no garment is allowed to leave the room without examination by the teacher.

Domestic Science.—In addition to the regular cooking for the Boarding Department, all of which is done by the students, under the direction of a superintendent, special instruction is given in a course of scientific cooking.

Students are taught the chemistry of foods and the principles of cooking illustrated by the preparation of the common typical foods, the aim being to teach its preparation in the most digestible and appetizing form.

Under the direction of this department the students in Domestic Science prepare and serve an evening dinner each school day in the domestic science dining room for the faculty and their friends. This affords the most practical and helpful training

All students in the Eighth Grade and the Third Year Normal are required to take this work, each student having two recitations in theory and one assignment for practical work each week.

Those entering the department as special students are assigned additional practical work in addition to their theory.

A certificate is given to all students who have completed a three years course and are as far advanced in their literary studies as through the Grammar Department.

NECESSARY EXPENSES.

Knoxville College aims to make it possible for every young man and woman of energy and pluck to secure a good education. The charges to the students cover only a small part of the actual cost of the advantages furnished them.

The following list includes the various items furnished by the institution, but it does not include such items as laundry, books and general expenses of a miscellaneous character, all of which are more or less determined by the student himself:

Tuition, per term of twelve weeks paid at opening of term:

Training School	$2.50
Grammar School	3.00
Normal and Preparatory	5.00
College	5.00
Room rent, Heat and Light, per term of 12 weeks	6.00
Boarding, per month of four weeks, if paid in advance	6.00
Boarding per month, if not paid in advance.....	6.50
Room Deposit, to be refunded at end of year if room and furnishings are in proper order	1.00
Laboratory fee, College Chemistry and Biology	1.00
Laboratory fee, Normal and preparatory Chemistry and Biology25
Permit for use of laundry including hot water for washing and fuel for ironing, per term...	.50
Diploma, College	2.00
Diploma, Normal	1.00
Certificates, for those who have completed courses which do not entitle them to diplomas50

Tuition for lessons on piano and voice culture is extra—see music department.

Four weeks constitute a school month.

Five or six dollars will be required for books, postage and stationery.

Some manage by doing extra work to earn from $10 to $50 during the school year and thus reduce the amount of cash needed.

For those doing their own laundry work, a charge of 50 cents a term will be made to cover cost of hot water, repairs, and fuel for ironing.

Before a student can be enrolled or a room assigned, the tuition, room rent and first month's board must be paid.

One hour of work each day, or, its equivalent in money, is required of all students. They may be assigned for this to some part of the domestic work, or, if they prefer, to some industrial department.

In case of being compelled to leave school on account of sickness, tuition or board money unused will be refunded.

Extra examinations for persons who have failed and wish a second trial or for those who have been out of school and have made up work, will be charged at the rate of fifty cents an examination. There is no charge, however, for entrance examinations or those taken in connection with the regular class.

Any damage done to the college property, through intention carelessness or neglect, must be paid for by the one guilty of it.

All payments must be made at least monthly in advance, unless by special arrangement with the President.

Money can be sent by money order, check, draft, or registered letter. Money orders, checks, or drafts, should be made payable to the President, R. W. McGranahan, and all money sent to him.

For boarding students the expenses for a term of 12 weeks including tuition, room rent, and boarding, for those in the Training School are $26.50, for the Grammar School, $27.00; for the Normal and College, $29.00. Most parents and guardians will find it most convenient to remit for the entire term at once.
